The Adventure Of The Cardboard Box:

The Adventure of the Cardboard Box Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, 2005 In choosing a few typical cases which illustrate the remarkable mental qualities of my friend Sherlock Holmes I have endeavoured as far as possible to select those which presented the minimum of sensationalism while offering a fair field for his talents It is however unfortunately impossible entirely to separate the sensational from the criminal and a chronicler is left in the dilemma that he must either sacrifice details which are essential to his statement and so give a false impression of the problem or he must use matter which chance and not choice has provided him with With this short preface I shall turn to my notes of what proved to be a strange though a peculiarly terrible chain of events It was a blazing hot day in August Baker Street was like an oven and the glare of the sunlight upon the yellow brickwork of the house across the road was painful to the eye It was hard to believe that these were the same walls which loomed so gloomily through the fogs of winter Our blinds were half drawn and Holmes lay curled upon the sofa reading and re reading a letter which he had received by the morning post For myself my term of service in India had trained me to stand heat better than cold and a thermometer at ninety was no hardship But the morning paper was uninteresting Parliament had risen Everybody was out of town and I yearned for the glades of the New Forest or the shingle of Southsea A depleted bank account had caused me to postpone my holiday and as to my companion neither the country nor the sea presented the slightest attraction to him He loved to lie in the very center of five millions of people with his filaments stretching out and running through them responsive to every little rumour or suspicion of unsolved crime Appreciation of nature found no place among his many gifts and his only change was when he turned his mind from the evil doer of the town to track down his brother of the country

The Adventure of the Cardboard Box Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, 2016-02-20 A Prank or a Crime of Passion What is the meaning of it Watson said Holmes solemnly as he laid down the paper What object is served by this circle of misery and violence and fear It must tend to some end or else our universe is ruled by chance which is unthinkable But what end There is the great standing perennial problem to which human reason is as far from an answer as ever Arthur Conan Doyle The Adventure of the Cardboard Box Sherlock Holmes is up to something He doesn't believe Inspector Lestrade's story that Miss Susan Cushing is a victim of a prank She received a parcel with two human ears packed in a coarse salt And what about the precarious cuts Or the writing and the spelling correction from the parcel Doesn't these clues suggest something more than a prank made by a bunch of medical students This Xist Classics edition has been professionally formatted for e readers with a linked table of contents This eBook also contains a bonus book club leadership guide and discussion questions We hope you'll share this book with your friends neighbors and colleagues and can't wait to hear what you have to say about it Xist Publishing is a digital first publisher Xist Publishing creates books for the touchscreen generation and is dedicated to helping everyone develop a lifetime love of reading no matter what form it takes
