The Animal Finders Guide:

Animals Matter Marc Bekoff, 2007-11-13 Nonhuman animals have many of the same feelings we do. They get hurt, they suffer, they are happy, and they take care of each other. Marc Bekoff, a renowned biologist specializing in animal minds and emotions, guides readers from high school age up, including older adults who want a basic introduction to the topic, in looking at scientific research, philosophical ideas, and humane values that argue for the ethical and compassionate treatment of animals. Citing the latest scientific studies and tackling controversies with conviction, he zeroes in on the important questions, inviting reader participation with thought experiments and ideas for action. Among the questions considered: Are some species more valuable or more important than others? Do some animals feel pain and suffering, and not others? Do animals feel emotions? Should endangered animals be reintroduced to places where they originally lived? Should animals be kept in captivity? Are there alternatives to using animals for food, clothing, cosmetic testing, and dissection in the science classroom? What can we learn by imagining what it feels like to be a dog or a cat or a mouse or an ant? What can we do to make a difference in animals' quality of life? Bekoff urges us not only to understand and protect animals, especially those whose help we want for our research and other human needs, but to love and respect them as our fellow beings on this planet that we all want to share in peace.

Agriculture Decisions United States. Department of Agriculture, 1998 Up to 1988 the December issue contains a cumulative list of decisions reported for the year by act docket numbers arranged in consecutive order and cumulative subject index by act.

Animal Rights Kevin Hile, 2009 From questions over whether it is appropriate to eat meat or to wear fur or leather, this title examines all sides of this very controversial issue.

Tigers of the World Ronald Tilson, Philip J. Nyhus, 2009-11-30 Tigers of the World Second Edition explores tiger biology, ecology, conservation, management, and the science and technology that make this possible. In 1988, when the first edition was published, tiger conservation was still in its infancy, and two decades later there has been a revolution not only in what is known but how information about tigers is obtained and disseminated. In the fast-changing world of conservation, there is a great need to summarize the vast and current state of the art, to put this into historical perspective, and to speculate in what yet remains to be done. Tigers of the World Second Edition fulfills this need by bringing together in a unique way the world's leading tiger experts into one volume. Despite the challenges ahead, there are bright spots in this story and lessons aplenty not only for tiger specialists but large carnivore specialists, conservation biologists, wildlife managers, natural resource policymakers, and most importantly, the caring public. Examines the past twenty years of research from the world's leading tiger experts on biology, politics, and conservation. Describes latest methods used to disseminate and obtain information needed for conservation and care of this species. Includes coverage on genetics and ecology, policy, poaching, and trade, captive breeding, and farming, and the status of Asia's last wild tigers. Excellent resource for grad courses in conservation biology, wildlife management, and veterinary programs. New volume continues the classic Noyes Series in Animal Behavior Ecology.
