Republic of Armenia International Monetary Fund. Middle East and Central Asia Dept., 2015-11-19 This paper discusses Armenia's Second Review Under the Extended Arrangement and Request for Waivers of Nonobservance and Rephasing Since late 2014 Armenia's economic performance has been affected by significantly weaker external conditions as the slowdown of the Russian economy the weakening of the ruble lower metals prices and the strengthening of the dollar have led to pressures on external receipts particularly remittances Performance under the program has come under strain Three performance criteria PCs were missed both at end December 2014 and end June 2015 The authorities are requesting waivers of nonobservance for the missed June and continuous PCs The IMF staff supports completion of the review

Towards a New Cognitive Neuroscience: Modeling Natural Brain Dynamics Klaus Gramann, Tzyy-Ping Jung, Daniel P. Ferris, Chin-Teng Lin, Scott Makeig, 2014-10-03 Decades of brain imaging experiments have revealed important insights into the architecture of the human brain and the detailed anatomic basis for the neural dynamics supporting human cognition However technical restrictions of traditional brain imaging approaches including functional magnetic resonance tomography fMRI positron emission tomography PET and magnetoencephalography MEG severely limit participants movements during experiments As a consequence our knowledge of the neural basis of human cognition is rooted in a dissociation of human cognition from what is arguably its foremost and certainly its evolutionarily most determinant function organizing our behavior so as to optimize its consequences in our complex multi scale and ever changing environment The concept of natural cognition therefore should not be separated from our fundamental experience and role as embodied agents acting in a complex partly unpredictable world To gain new insights into the brain dynamics supporting natural cognition we must overcome restrictions of traditional brain imaging technology First the sensors used must be lightweight and mobile to allow monitoring of brain activity during free participant movements New hardware technology for electroencephalography EEG and near infrared spectroscopy NIRS allows recording electrical and hemodynamic brain activity while participants are freely moving New data driven analysis approaches must allow separation of signals arriving at the sensors from the brain and from non brain sources neck muscles eyes heart the electrical environment etc Independent component analysis ICA and related blind source separation methods allow separation of brain activity from non brain activity from data recorded during experimental paradigms that stimulate natural cognition Imaging the precisely timed distributed brain dynamics that support all forms of our motivated actions and interactions in both laboratory and real world settings requires new modes of data capture and of data processing Synchronously recording participants motor behavior brain activity and other physiology as well as their physical environment and external events may be termed mobile brain body imaging MoBI Joint multi stream analysis of recorded MoBI data is a major conceptual mathematical and data processing challenge This Research Topic is one result of the first international MoBI meeting in Delmenhorst Germany in September 2013 During an intense workshop researchers from all over the world presented their projects and discussed new technological developments and challenges of this new imaging approach Several of the presentations are compiled in this Research Topic that we hope may inspire new research using the MoBI paradigm to investigate natural cognition by recording and analyzing the brain dynamics and behavior of participants performing a wide range of naturally motivated actions and interactions Computational Science and Its Applications - ICCSA 2014 Beniamino Murgante, Sanjay Misra, Ana Maria Alves Coutinho Rocha, Carmelo Torre, Jorge Gustavo Rocha, Maria Irene Falcão, David Taniar, Bernady O. Annual Energy Outlook 2005: With Projections to 2025, Strategically important metals Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Science and Technology

Committee, 2011-05-17 Although most strategic metal reserves are unlikely to run out over the coming decades the perception of scarcity of certain minerals and metals may lead to increased speculation and volatility in price and supply Strategically important metals are vital to advanced manufacturing low carbon technologies and other growing industries and the Government should provide reliable information on potential resource risks in a coordinated and coherent way The UK also exports large quantities of scrap metal and waste electrical and electronic equipment WEEE often to developing countries This metal not only is a potential resource for the UK but it is also an example of the UK exporting its environmental problems elsewhere There are also concerns about the illegal export of WEEE which is often labelled as second hand equipment for re use and calls for safeguards to be put in place Despite a rate of 90% by weight metal recycling in the UK it is of great concern that some strategic metals are likely to be lost in the 10% not being recycled The report recommends Improving existing legislation to ensure companies implement requirements on reporting non financial information such as human rights and health and safety issues an evaluation by the Government of the potential for introducing similar legislation to that in the US whereby companies are required to produce detailed reports on conflict minerals that they use This report also brings the alleged activities of large dealers on the London Metals Exchange to the attention of the Office of Fair Trading Finally the report looks at domestic extraction and says planning regulations should not unnecessarily restrict the use of significant potential reserves and that domestic mining could alleviate risks associated with sourcing metals from external supply monopolies In parallel the Government has to invest in research to ensure that future domestic mining has the least possible environmental impact

Federal Register , 2013-05 Genomic Selection: Lessons Learned and Perspectives Johannes W. R. Martini, Sarah J. Hearne, Brian Gardunia, Valentin Wimmer, Fernando H. Toledo, 2022-09-15 Genomic selection GS has been the most prominent topic in breeding science in the last two decades The continued interest is promoted by its huge potential impact on the efficiency of breeding Predicting a breeding value based on molecular markers and phenotypic values of relatives may be used to manipulate three parameters of the breeder's equation First the accuracy of the selection may be improved by predicting the genetic value more reliably when considering the records of relatives and the realized genomic relationship Secondly genotyping and predicting may be more cost effective than comprehensive phenotyping Resources can instead be allocated to increasing population sizes and selection intensity The third probably most important factor is time As shown in dairy cattle breeding reducing cycle time by crossing selection candidates earlier may have the strongest impact on selection gain Many different prediction models have been used and different ways of using predicted values in a breeding program have been explored We would like to address the questions i How did GS change breeding schemes of different crops in the last 20 years ii What was the impact on realized selection gain iii What would be the best structure of a crop specific breeding scheme to exploit the full potential of GS iv What is the potential of hybrid prediction epistasis effect models deep learning methods and other extensions of the standard prediction of additive effects v What are the long term effects of GS vi Can predictive breeding approaches also be used to harness genetic resources from germplasm banks in a more efficient way to adapt current germplasm to new environmental challenges This Research Topic welcomes submissions of Original Research papers Opinions Perspectives Reviews and Mini Reviews related to these themes 1 Genomic selection statistical methodology 2 The optimal use of GS in breeding schemes 3 Practical experiences with GS selection gain long term effects negative side effects 4 Predictive approaches to harness genetic resources Concerning point 1 If an original research paper compares different methods empirically without theoretical considerations on when one or the other method should be better the methods should be compared with at least five different data sets The data sets should differ either in crop genotyping method or its source for instance from a breeding program or gene bank accessions Concerning point 2 Manuscripts addressing the use of GS in breeding schemes should illustrate breeding schemes that are run in practice General ideas about schemes that may be run in the future may be considered as Perspective articles Conflict of Interest statements Topic Editor Valentin Wimmer is affiliated to KWS SAAT SE Co KGaA Germany Topic Editor Brian Gardunia is affiliated to Bayer Crop Sciences and has a collaboration with AbacusBio and is an author on patents with Bayer Crop Sciences The other Topic Editors did not disclose any conflicts of interest Image credit CIMMYT reproduced under the CC BY NC SA 2 0 license

Questions 2 Sample Papers Concept Clarity Learn Key Concepts through Detailed Explanations 100% Exam Readiness with Latest Five Years Trend Analysis 2019 2023 Valuable Exam Insights with Hints Short cuts Expert Tips to Crack SSC CGL Tier 1 Exam in the first attempt Annual Energy Outlook ,2005 World Economic Outlook, October 2017 International Monetary Fund. Research Dept.,2017-10-10 The global upswing in economic activity is strengthening Global growth which in 2016 was the weakest since the global financial crisis at 3.2 percent is projected to rise to 3.6 percent in 2017 and to 3.7 percent in 2018 The growth forecasts for both 2017 and 2018 are 0.1 percentage point stronger compared with projections earlier this year Broad based upward revisions in the euro area Japan emerging Asia emerging Europe and Russia where growth outcomes in the first half of 2017 were better than expected more than offset downward revisions for the United States and the United Kingdom But the recovery is not complete while the baseline outlook is strengthening growth remains weak in many countries and inflation is below target in most advanced economies Commodity exporters especially of fuel are particularly hard hit as their adjustment to a sharp step down in foreign earnings continues And while short term risks are broadly balanced medium term risks are still tilted to the downside The welcome cyclical pickup in global activity thus provides an ideal window of opportunity to tackle the key policy challenges namely to boost potential output while ensuring its benefits are broadly shared and to build resilience against downside risks A renewed multilateral effort is also needed to tackle the common challenges of an integrated global economy Wireless Sensor Networks Bhaskar Krishnamachari,Amy L.
