Yearbook of International Humanitarian Law, Volume 20, 2017 Terry D. Gill, Tim McCormack, Robin Geiß, Heike Krieger, Christophe Paulussen, 2018-12-20 The main theme of this volume of the Yearbook of International Humanitarian Law is the development and interpretation of international humanitarian law IHL It is elaborated upon in several chapters that examine the role of non state armed groups in the development and interpretation of IHL the impact of international criminal law on the development of IHL the notion of external non international armed conflicts and the regulation of prolonged occupation under international law The second theme of this volume is dedicated to targeting in armed conflicts Specific topics include precautions in attack in urban and siege warfare the targeting of the Islamic State's religious personnel in Iraq and Syria and the targeting of illicit crops through aerial spraying in Colombia Besides the chapters that address both themes this volume also contains a Year in Review describing the most important events and legal developments that took place in 2017 The Yearbook of International Humanitarian Law is the world's only annual publication devoted to the study of the laws governing armed conflict It provides a truly international forum for high quality peer reviewed academic articles focusing on this crucial branch of international law Distinguished by contemporary relevance the Yearbook of International Humanitarian Law bridges the gap between theory and practice and serves as a useful reference tool for scholars practitioners military personnel civil servants diplomats human rights workers and students     Advocating Social Change through International Law Daniel Bradlow, David Hunter, 2019-12-09 Advocating Social Change through International Law edited by Professors Daniel Bradlow and David Hunter explores the use of hard and soft international law in advocating for social change Using case studies rooted in inter alia human rights international crimes environmental protection public health and financial regulation the book focuses on both state and non state actors strategic choices regarding the use of hard and soft international law in advocating for social change Looking through the social change lens provides new insights into the interplay between soft and hard international law the perceived costs and benefits associated with hard and soft international law in different contexts and the factors affecting the effectiveness of hard and soft approaches to international law The Education Triple Cocktail Brahm Fleisch,2018-08-15 The Education Triple Cocktail brings together rigorous quantitative and qualitative research on a new approach to improving foundational teaching and learning for schoolchildren living in working class poor and remote rural communities in resource constrained systems like South Africa At the core of this book is the theory and evidence for a powerful new interlocking and mutually reinforcing change model Inspired by the AIDS treatment story the three pronged approach of structured daily lesson plans appropriate and high quality educational materials and one on one instructional coaching to help teachers transform their instructional practices in early grade classrooms shows that it will improve learning outcomes For education systems defined by low levels of early grade learning and profoundly unequal outcomes The Education Triple Cocktail offers a theoretically informed evidence based way forward This book will be of immense use to teachers students of Education policymakers and parents

Improving the Delivery of Pre-exposure Prophylaxis (PrEP) to Eliminate Vertical HIV Transmission Dvora Joseph Davey,Benjamin Chi, Irene Njuguna,Jillian Pintye ,Friday Saidi,2024-10-30 Over half of HIV infections globally occur among cisgender women High HIV incidence among young ie 15 30 years old African cisgender women persists during pregnancy and postpartum and there is evidence that HIV acquisition risk more than doubles during this period A new HIV infection has important short and long term consequences for the mother s health Acute maternal HIV infection is also associated with increased vertical transmission risk making prevention of HIV among pregnant and breastfeeding populations a global health priority As access to antiretroviral therapy continues to expand new and often undiagnosed maternal HIV infections during pregnancy and breastfeeding contribute to a growing proportion of new pediatric HIV cases and urgent focus of interventions to eliminate vertical HIV transmission To address this important gap The World Health Organization WHO and several national HIV programs recommend offering pre exposure prophylaxis PrEP to pregnant and breastfeeding populations at substantial risk for HIV To fully realize the promise of PrEP in antenatal and postnatal settings however real world clinical and implementation data are urgently needed Further there is a need for research on novel long acting tools that prevent HIV acquisition in all populations including pregnant and breastfeeding populations

Emerging Technologies for Education Tien-Chi Huang,Rynson Lau,Yueh-Min Huang,Marc Spaniol,Chun-Hung Yuen,2017-12-15 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed post workshop proceedings of the Second International Symposium SETE 2017 held in conjunction with ICWL 2017 Cape Town South Africa in September 2017 The 52 full and 13 short papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 123 submissions This symposium attempts to provide opportunities for the crossfertilization of knowledge and ideas from researchers in diverse fields that make up this interdisciplinary research area South African Schooling: The Enigma of Inequality Nic Spaull, Jonathan D. Jansen, 2019-11-05 This volume brings together many of South Africa's leading scholars of education and covers the full range of South African schooling from financing and policy reform to in depth discussions of literacy numeracy teacher development and curriculum change The book moves beyond a historical analysis and provides an inside view of the questions South African scholars are now grappling with Are there different and preferential equilibria we have not yet thought of or explored and if so what are they In practical terms how does one get to a more equitable distribution of teachers resources and learning outcomes While decidedly local these questions resonate throughout the developing world South Africa today is the most unequal country in the world The richest 10% of South Africans lay claim to 65% of national income and 90% of national wealth This is the largest 90/10 gap in the world and one that is reflected in the schooling system Two decades after apartheid it is still the case that the life chances of most South African children are determined not by their ability or the result of hard work and determination but instead by the colour of their skin the province of their birth and the wealth of their parents Looking back on almost three decades of democracy in South Africa it is this stubbornness of inequality and its patterns of persistence that demands explanation justification and analysis This is a landmark book on basic education in South Africa an essential volume for those interested in learning outcomes and their inequality in South Africa The various chapters present conceptually and empirically sophisticated analyses of learning outcomes across divisions of race class and place The book brings together the wealth of decades of research output from top quality researchers to explore what has improved what has not and why Prof Lant Pritchett Harvard University There is much wisdom in this collection from many of the best education analysts in South Africa No surprise that they conclude that without a large and sustained expansion in well trained teachers early childhood education and adequate school resources South Africa will continue to sacrifice its people's future to maintaining the privileges of the few Prof Martin Carnoy Stanford University Altogether one can derive from this very valuable volume if not an exact blueprint for the future then certainly at least a crucial and evidence based itinerary for the next few steps Dr Luis Crouch RTI

Evaluation Management in South Africa and Africa Fanie Cloete, Babette Rabie, Christo De Coning, 2014-12-01 This blind peer reviewed book systematically records analyses and assesses for the first time in a single volume the implications of the global development and management of professional evaluation for the African continent The book deals with the most strategic contemporary evaluation themes Each of these themes contains discussions of theoretical issues illustrated with one or more short case studies while selected longer case studies and other relevant documentation are also taken up in annexures at the end of the book The book therefore comprises a guide to best M E practices for purposes of systematic policy programme and project evaluations It is suitable for both professional M E institutionalisation and capacity building projects as well as for evaluation information dissemination and education at different levels in the public private and voluntary sectors in society especially in a developmental context

Steyn, 2012 TRB's National Cooperative Highway Research Program NCHRP Synthesis 433 Significant Findings from Full Scale Accelerated Pavement Testing documents and summarizes significant findings from the various experimental activities associated with full scale accelerated pavement testing of SAPT programs that have taken place between 2000 and 2011 The report also identifies gaps in knowledge related to SAPT and where future research may be needed NCHRP Synthesis 433 is designed to expand the SAPT base of knowledge documented in NCHRP Syntheses 325 and 235 both with the same title of Significant Findings from Full Scale Accelerated Pavement Testing SAPT is the controlled application of a wheel loading at or above the appropriate legal load limit to a pavement system to determine pavement response in a compressed time period The acceleration of damage is achieved by one or more of the following factors increased repetitions modified loading conditions imposed climatic conditions and thinner pavements with a decreased structural capacity which have shorter design lives Anatomy of a South African Karst Hydrosystem Philip J. Hobbs, Harrison Pienaar, Eddie van Wyk, Yongxin Xu, 2022-08-05 This book combines the results of the research activities in the assessment of water resources environment and an integrated water resource monitoring program to support preservation efforts of the aquatic environment of the Cradle of Humankind COH World Heritage Sites A poor understanding of the surface and groundwater resources of the COH property has precipitated often alarmist reporting in the media regarding the negative impacts associated with various sources of poor quality water The most notable of these is the acid mine drainage threat to karst ecosystems and fossil sites across the property These circumstances have generated wide and considerable concern for the preservation of the UNESCO inscribed fossil sites and integrity of the water resources of the property The Directory of Independent Schools in South Africa, 1995 Alkali-Aggregate Reaction in Concrete Ian Sims, Alan Poole, 2017-08-01 Alkali Aggregate Reaction in Concrete A World Review is unique in providing authoritative and up to date expert information on the causes and effects of Alkali Aggregate Reaction AAR in concrete structures worldwide In 1992 a first edition entitled The Alkali Silica Reaction in Concrete edited by Professor Narayan Swamy was published in a first attempt to cover this concrete problem from a global perspective but the coverage was incomplete This completely new edition offers a fully updated and more universal coverage of the world situation concerning AAR and includes a wealth of new evidence and research information that has accumulated in the intervening years Although there are various textbooks offering readers sections that deal with AAR deterioration and damage to concrete no other single book brings together the views of recognised international experts in the field and the wealth of scattered research information that is available. It provides a state of the art review and deals authoritatively with the mechanisms of AAR, its diagnosis and how to treat concrete affected by AAR. It is illustrated by numerous actual examples from around the world and comprises specialist contributions provided by senior engineers and scientists from many parts of the world. The book is divided into two distinct but complementary parts. The first five chapters deal with the most recent findings concerning the mechanisms involved in the reaction methods concerning its diagnosis, testing and evaluation together with an appraisal of current methods used in its avoidance and in the remediation of affected concrete structures. The second part is divided into eleven chapters covering each region of the world in turn. These chapters have been written by experts with specialist knowledge of AAR in the countries involved and include an authoritative appraisal of the problem and its solution as it affects concrete structures in the region. Such an authoritative compilation of information on AAR has not been attempted previously on this scale and this work is therefore an essential source for practising and research civil engineers, consultant engineers and materials scientists as well as aggregate and cement producers, designers and concrete suppliers especially regarding projects outside their own region.

Primary Education in Crisis Brahm Fleisch, 2008

In the past decade the national preoccupation has been on the crisis in secondary schools. Lurking behind the intractable problem of low pass rates, the dysfunctional schools and the small number of higher grade mathematics and science graduates is the calamity in primary education. Drawing on the work of researchers in a range of fields including psychology, sociology, anthropology, linguistics, economics, the health sciences and mathematics education, this book documents the depth and scope of the primary education crisis and provides a comprehensive and rigorous explanation of its causes. Primary education in crisis pulls together the wealth of research on health, poverty, resources, language and teaching as factors in academic achievement in reading, writing and mathematics. At the centre of the book is an analysis of the published studies that systematically document what teachers teach and fail to teach and why it is that teaching is at the heart of the crisis in primary education. The author suggests that there are no quick fixes but only hard choices and that for reform to succeed it must be evidence based.
