The Oversocialized Conception of Man, The chapters in this volume represent some of Dennis Wrong's best and most enduring essays Initially published as Skeptical Sociology this collection displays his ability to write compellingly for general intellectual audiences as well as for academic sociologists. The book is divided into sections that represent Wrong's major areas of interest and investigation: Human Nature and the Perspective of Sociology, Social Stratification and Inequality, and Power and Politics. Each section is preceded by a short introduction that places the articles in context and elaborates and often sheds new light on the contents. The essays in the first section were written with polemical intent directed against the assumptions of academic sociology that prevailed in an earlier period. Part two calls attention to the neglect by functionalists of power group conflict and historical change. Wrong shows that failure to consider them made functional theories of stratification especially vulnerable. The third section is more heterogeneous in subject and theme than the others; all the essays in it touch in some way on power or politics. Included in this volume is Wrong's celebrated and much quoted article, "The Oversocialized Conception of Man in Modern Sociology." Other significant essays reveal the author's views on many timely topics of sociological concern such as the quests for community and for identity, the Freudian, Marxian, and Weberian heritages in sociology, social class in America, meritocracy, a theory of democratic politics, humanist, positivist, and functionalist perspectives, and the sociology of the future. "The Oversocialized Conception of Man" is an indispensable volume for sociologists, political theorists, and historians. Dennis H. Wrong is emeritus professor of sociology at New York University. He is the author of The Problem of Order: Population and Society, Class Fertility Trends in Western Nations, Power: Its Forms, Bases, and Uses, also published by Transaction, and The Modern Condition, forthcoming.

Feminism as Life's Work Mary K. Trigg, 2014-06-23 With suffrage secured in 1920, feminists faced the challenge of how to keep their momentum going. As the center of the movement shrank, a small self-appointed vanguard of modern women carried the cause forward in life and work. Feminism as Life's Work profiles four of these women: the author Inez Haynes Irwin, the historian Mary Ritter Beard, the activist Doris Stevens, and Lorine Pruette, a psychologist. Their life stories, told here in full for the first time, embody the changes of the first four decades of the twentieth century and complicate what we know of the period. Through these women's intertwined stories, Mary Trigg traces the changing nature of the women's movement across turbulent decades: rent by World War, revolution, global depression, and the rise of fascism. Criticizing the standard division of feminist activism as a series of historical waves, Trigg exposes how Irwin, Beard, Stevens, and Pruette helped push the U.S. feminist movement to victory and continued to propel it forward from the 1920s to the 1960s, decades not included in the wave model. At a time widely viewed as the doldrums of feminism, the women in this book were in fact taking the cause to new sites: the National Women's Party, sexuality and relations with men, marriage, and work, and financial independence. In their utopian efforts to reshape work, sexual relations, and marriage, modern feminists ran headlong into the harsh realities of male power, the sexual double standard, the demands of motherhood, and gendered social structures. In Feminism as Life's Work, Irwin, Beard, Stevens, and Pruette emerge as the heirs of the suffrage movement, guardians of a long feminist tradition, and catalysts of the belief in equality and difference. Theirs is a story of courage, application, and perseverance, a story that revisits the bleak and lonely years of the U S women s movement and emerges with a fresh perspective of the history of this pivotal era Teaching Health Education in Language Diverse Classrooms Robert Wandberg,John Rohwer,2009-06
