Energy Efficiency in Buildings José Manuel Andújar,Sergio Gómez Melgar,2020-04-28 Buildings are one of the main causes of the emission of greenhouse gases in the world Europe alone is responsible for more than 30% of emissions or about 900 million tons of CO₂ per year Heating and air conditioning are the main cause of greenhouse gas emissions in buildings Most buildings currently in use were built with poor energy efficiency criteria or depending on the country and the date of construction none at all Therefore regardless of whether construction regulations are becoming stricter the real challenge nowadays is the energy rehabilitation of existing buildings It is currently a priority to reduce or ideally eliminate the waste of energy in buildings and at the same time supply the necessary energy through renewable sources The first can be achieved by improving the architectural design construction methods and materials used as well as the efficiency of the facilities and systems the second can be achieved through the integration of renewable energy wind solar geothermal etc in buildings In any case regardless of whether the energy used is renewable or not the efficiency must always be taken into account The most profitable and clean energy is that which is not consumed

Simulation and Optimization in Sustainable Logistics and Manufacturing Pawel Pawlewski, Allen

Greenwood, 2014-06-12 The aim of this book is to present qualitative aspects of logistics operations and supply chain management which help to implement the sustainable policy principles in the companies and public sector s institutions Authors in individual chapters address the issues related to reverse network configuration forward and reverse supply chain integration CO2 reduction in transportation improvement of the production operations and management of the recovery activities Some best practices from different countries and industries are presented This book will be valuable to both academics and practitioners wishing to deepen their knowledge in the field of logistics operations and management with regard to sustainability issues Fundamentals of Traffic Simulation Jaume Barceló, 2011-01-06 The increasing power of computer technologies the evolution of software engineering and the advent of the intelligent transport systems has prompted traffic simulation to become one of the most used approaches for traffic analysis in support of the design and evaluation of traffic systems The ability of traffic simulation to emulate the time variability of traffic phenomena makes it a unique tool for capturing the complexity of traffic systems In recent years traffic simulation and namely microscopic traffic simulation has moved from the academic to the professional world A wide variety of traffic simulation software is currently available on the market and it is utilized by thousands of users consultants researchers and public agencies Microscopic traffic simulation based on the emulation of traffic flows from the dynamics of individual vehicles is becoming one the most attractive approaches However traffic simulation still lacks a unified treatment Dozens of papers on theory and applications are published in scientific journals every year A search of simulation related papers and workshops through the proceedings of the last annual TRB meetings would support this assertion as would a review of the minutes from specially dedicated meetings such as the International Symposiums on Traffic Simulation Yokohama 2002 Lausanne 2006 Brisbane 2008 or the International Workshops on Traffic Modeling and Simulation Tucson 2001 Barcelona 2003 Sedona 2005 Graz 2008 Yet the only comprehensive treatment of the subject to be found so far is in the user's manuals of various software products

Geothermal Energy Utilization and Technologies 2020 Carlo Roselli, Maurizio Sasso, 2021-08-31 Rising pollution climate change and the depletion of fossil fuels are leading many countries to focus on renewable based energy conversion systems In particular recently introduced energy policies are giving high priority to increasing the use of renewable energy sources the improvement of energy systems security the minimization of greenhouse gas effect and social and economic cohesion Renewable energies availability varies during the day and the seasons and so their use must be accurately predicted in conjunction with the management strategies based on load shifting and energy storage Thus in order to reduce the criticalities of this uncertainty the exploitation of more flexible and stable renewable energies such as the geothermal one is necessary Geothermal energy is an abundant renewable source with significant potential in direct use applications such as in district heating systems in indirect use ones to produce electricity and in cogeneration and polygeneration systems for the combined production of power heating and cooling energy This Special Issue includes geothermal energy utilization and the technologies used for its exploitation considering both the direct and indirect use applications
