At Home with Pornography Jane Juffer, 1998-07-01 Twenty five years after the start of the feminist sex wars pornography remains a flashpoint issue with feminists locked in a familiar argument Are women victims or agents In At Home with Pornography Jane Juffer exposes the fruitlessness of this debate and suggests that it has prevented us from realizing women's changing relationship to erotica and porn Over the course of these same twenty five years there has been a proliferation of sexually explicit materials geared toward women made available in increasingly mainstream venues In asking what is the relationship of women to pornography Juffer maintains that we need to stop obsessing over pornography's transgressive aspects and start focusing on the place of porn and erotica in women's everyday lives Where she asks do women routinely find it for how much and how is it circulated and consumed within the home How is this circulation and consumption shaped by the different marketing categories that attempt to distinguish erotica from porn such as women's literary erotica and sexual self help videos for couples At Home with Pornography responds to these questions by viewing women's erotica within the context of governmental regulation that attempts to counterpose a dangerous pornography with the sanctity of the home Juffer explores how women's consumption of erotica and porn for their own pleasure can be empowering while still acting to reinforce conservative ideals She shows how for instance the Victoria's Secret catalog is able to function as a kind of pornography whose circulation is facilitated both by its reliance on Victorian themes of secrecy and privacy and on its appeals to the selfish pleasures of modern career women In her pursuit to understand what women like and how they get it Juffer delves into adult cable channels erotic literary anthologies sex therapy guides cyberporn masturbation and sex toys showing the varying degrees to which these materials have been domesticated for home consumption Representing the next generation of scholarship on pornography At Home with Pornography will transform our understanding of women's everyday sexuality

SELECT POEMS John M. Bennett, 2016 Poetry Visual Poetry A selection from over 40 years of Bennett's work introduced by Ivan Argüelles Where to begin writing about this baffling and certainly most avant garde of all poets living and working in the USA today Bennett's reputation is international and his interest in Mesoamerican culture has drawn him frequently to that part of the world where he is a recognized figure His experimentations over the years have encompassed multiple techniques including visual poetry and his own polyglottery moving in and out of English Spanish Portuguese French or some Mesoamerican language What may seem aleatory is in fact more intentional and grounded than is first apparent Bennett has roots in traditional literatures those of Siglo de Oro Spain and of Elizabethan England but he is capable of transducing those literatures metamorphosing them by way of the avant garde movements of the 20th century into something utterly innovative and New such as few contemporary artists have done

Watching with The Simpsons Jonathan Gray, 2012-10-12 Using our favourite Springfield family as a case study Watching with The Simpsons examines the textual and social role of parody in offering critical commentary on other television programs and genres Jonathan Gray brings together textual theory discussions of television and the public sphere and ideas of parody and comedy Including primary audience research it focuses on how The Simpsons has been able to talk back to three of television's key genres the sitcom adverts and the news and on how it holds the potential to short circuit these genre's meanings power and effects by provoking reinterpretations and offering more media literate recontextualizations Examining television and media studies theory the text of The Simpsons and the show's audience Gray attempts to fully situate the show's parody and humour within the lived realities of its audiences In doing so he further explores the possibilities for popular entertainment television to discuss issues of political and social importance A must read for any student of media studies

Bodies and Disciplines Barbara Hanawalt, David Wallace, 1996-01-01 Centered on practices of the body human bodies the body politic Bodies and Disciplines considers a fascinating and largely uncanonical group of texts as well as public dramas rituals and spectacles from multidisciplinary perspectives The result is a volume that incorporates insights from history literature medieval studies and critical theory drawing from the strengths of each discipline to illuminate a relatively little studied period

Theories of Consumption John Storey, 2017-01-06 Theories of Consumption explores the concept of consumption from the post disciplinary perspective of cultural studies John Storey brings together work that up until now has been located in distinct disciplinary spaces including work on reception theory in literary studies and philosophy work on consumer culture in sociology anthropology and history and work on media audiences both ethnographic and theoretical in media studies and sociology Moving beyond the usual analysis of consumer culture Storey presents a critical assessment of a range of theoretical approaches to the study of consumption In doing so he provides an authoritative overview of a significant selection of research and analysis that has explored consumption as an object of study This book provides an ideal introduction to consumption for students of media and cultural studies and will also be useful for students within a number of other disciplines such as sociology history anthropology cultural geography and both literary and visual studies

Intertextuality and the Reading of Roman Poetry Lowell Edmunds, 2003-05-01 How can we explain the process by which a literary text refers to another text For the past decade and a half intertextuality has been a central concern of scholars and readers of Roman poetry In Intertextuality and the Reading of Roman Poetry Lowell Edmunds proceeds from such fundamental concepts as author text and reader which he then applies to passages from Vergil Horace Ovid and Catullus Edmunds combines close readings of poems with analysis of recent theoretical models to argue that allusion has no linguistic or semiotic basis there is nothing in addition to the alluding words that causes the allusion or the reference to be made Intertextuality is a matter of reading

Yorkshire Dialect in the Nineteenth Century Paul Cooper, 2025-03-25 This book draws on a framework of enregisterment and indexicality to chart the ways in which the Yorkshire dialect came to be associated with particular linguistic repertoires and social stereotypes from the nineteenth century through to today Cooper situates the work within a historical enregisterment framework rooted in an ideological approach to the study of language Focusing on representations of the Yorkshire dialect in a corpus of nineteenth century writing comprising poetry ballads songs and plays Cooper explores how the dialect came to be enregistered and indexical of social values such as friendliness directness or authenticity and how sub varieties impacted the division of communities along ideological lines The volume also includes qualitative analyses of metalinguistic commentary from such historical sources as dictionaries glossaries and magazines Taken together the book offers a holistic picture of the evolution of the Yorkshire dialect and in turn stereotypes of Yorkshireness which persist to this day Cooper shows how an enregisterment approach can offer a deeper understanding of the historical relationships between dialect and identity and in turn contemporary perceptions of dialects and their speakers This volume will be of interest to students and scholars in historical sociolinguistics dialectology and English language

The Living Church Annual and Clergy-list Quarterly, 1886 Reading in History Bonnie Gunzenhauser, 2015-10-06 A collection of essays that offer a methodological framework for the history of reading Focusing on a specific historical moment it gathers statistics about such issues as literacy rates library subscriptions publication and sales figures and print runs to answer questions about what was being read and by whom in a particular place and time

Media Culture & Morality Keith Tester, 2013-07-23 First published in 1994 The media report terrible events But the academic study of the media is increasingly trivial and lacking in moral seriousness Media Culture and Morality examines how this paradoxical situation could have emerged The author seizes upon the disparity between the enormous production of books in the field and the lack of substantive insights generated He argues that such a mass of self conscious criticism should have provided a moral critique of contemporary culture not the quagmire of theoretical verbiage and threadbare politicizing we are faced with today The book is a disturbing speculation on the fate of moral and cultural values in a media dominated world

Everyday Stories Rachel Bowlby, 2016 It has often been argued that literature that tries to copy reality can't succeed because the world is one thing and words another This is to forget that ordinary daily life is already full of words and images and stories we spend our days talking and writing about what's going on what happened and who might be feeling what about whom and why Everyday Stories makes us think again about the ordinary life we are in day after day and day by day always the same and always slightly changing Entering into the single day drawing out the stories that surround us this book goes into everyday stories of many descriptions old and new both in literature and in that story laden place and time we call real life

The Shakespearean International Yearbook Professor Tom Bishop, Professor Alexa Huang, Dr Tiffany Jo Werth, 2015-10-28 What makes Shakespeare centrally exceptional to the current humanities curriculum a measure and minimum unit for University administrations and the general public to recognise the activity of the humanities The essays in this issue of the Yearbook ask how we might push this question beyond categories of the exceptional the superlative the above beyond below or even the normative in order to scale Shakespeare historically canonically and ontologically in relation to the human In the now established tradition of The Shakespearean International

Yearbook the 15th issue surveys important developments and topics of concern in contemporary Shakespeare studies

Reimagining Hagar Nyasha Junior, 2019 Reimagining Hagar illustrates that while interpretations of Hagar as Black are not frequent within the entire history of her interpretation such interpretations are part of strategies to emphasize elements of Hagar's story in order to associate or disassociate her from particular groups. It considers how interpreters engage markers of difference including gender, ethnicity, status, and their intersections in their portrayals of Hagar. Nyasha Junior offers a reception history that examines interpretations of Hagar with a focus on interpretations of Hagar as a Black woman. Reception history within biblical studies considers the use, impact, and influence of biblical texts and looks at a necessarily small number of points within the long history of the transmission of biblical texts. This volume covers a limited selection of interpretations over time that is not intended to be a representative sample of interpretations of Hagar. It is beyond the scope of this book to offer a comprehensive collection of interpretations of Hagar throughout the history of biblical interpretation or in popular culture. Junior argues for the African presence in biblical texts, identifies and responds to White supremacist interpretations, offers cultural historical interpretation that attends to the history of biblical interpretation within Black communities, and provides ideological criticism that uses the African American context as a reading strategy. Reimagining Hagar offers a history of interpretation but also expands beyond interpretation among Black communities to consider how various interpreters have identified Hagar as Black.

Shakespeare and Chekhov in Production and Reception John Tulloch, 2009-05 With a focus on the canonical institutions of Shakespeare and Chekhov, John Tulloch brings together for the first time new concepts of the theatrical event with live audience analysis. Using mainstream theatre productions from across the globe that were highly successful according to both critics and audiences, this book of case studies, ethnographies of production and reception, offers a combined cultural and media studies approach to analyzing theatre history, production, and audience. Tulloch positions these concepts and methodologies within a broader current theatrical debate between postmodernity and risk modernity. He also describes the continuing history of Shakespeare and Chekhov as a series of stories currently and locally told in the context of a blurring of academic genres that frames the two writers. Drawn from research conducted over nearly a decade in Australia, Britain, and the U.S., Shakespeare and Chekhov in Production and Reception will be of interest to students and scholars of theatre studies, media studies, and audience research.

The Saintly Scoundrel Andrew F. Smith, 1997 This is the first biography of one of this nation's most outrageous individuals, a man who was president of the medical departments of two universities and chancellor of two others, a member and officer of at least twenty different agricultural, medical, or social organizations, an itinerant minister in three different denominations, and a lobbyist who successfully ushered bills through legislatures in Ohio, Virginia, Indiana, and Illinois. Bennett's roles ranged from mayor of Nauvoo, confidant of Joseph Smith, and chicken breeder to surgeon, quartermaster general of Illinois, promoter of the tomato, and diploma salesman. His story is brilliantly told by an author who spent nine years uncovering and piecing together the facts The Saintly Scoundrel reveals Bennett as one of the nineteenth century's most enterprising and entertaining humbugs truly a man who excelled at promoting beliefs places things and himself whose ability to abruptly shift positions on people and faiths would dazzle even the most formidable propagandist of the twentieth century To Be One of Us Nancy Warehime,1993-03-18 In the context of the growing debate over the relationship between humanities education and the future of liberal democracy To Be One of Us surveys in dialectical fashion several contemporary humanist thinkers and analyzes their diverse philosophical positions in relation to John Dewey's claim that creative democracy is the task before us The cultural roots of these diverse positions are compared on the basis of their normative conceptions of moral authority The first section of the text contains analyses of Allan Bloom's conservative platonism and of several critiques of his discourse of crisis The second section is an exploration of Rorty's liberal pragmatism and its implications for education and democracy and of the critique of Rorty which emanates from his political left Finally West's prophetic pragmatism is examined and presented as the philosophical position best suited to creative democracy given prevailing social economic and political realities Genre, Race, and the Production of Subjectivity in German Romanticism Stephanie Galasso,2024-04-15

Exposes German Romanticism's entanglements of aesthetic philosophy with racialized models of humanity Late Enlightenment philosophers and writers like Herder Goethe and Schiller broke with conventions of form and genre to prioritize an idealized and racially coded universality Newly translated literatures from colonial contexts served as the basis for their evaluations of how to contribute to a distinctly German national literary tradition one that valorized modernity and freedom and thus fortified crucial determinants of modern concepts of whiteness Through close readings of both canonical and less studied Romantic texts Stephanie Galasso examines the intimately entwined histories of racialized subjectivity and aesthetic theory and shows how literary genre is both symptomatic and generative of the cultural violence that underpinned the colonial project Poetic expression and its generic conventions continue to exert pressure on the framing and reception of the stories that can be told about interpersonal and structural experiences of oppression Genre Race and the Production of Subjectivity in German Romanticism explores how white subjectivity is guarded by symbolic and material forms of violence

Handbook of Adolescent Literacy Research Leila Christenbury,Randy Bomer,Peter Smagorinsky,2011-06-10 The first comprehensive research handbook of its kind this volume showcases innovative approaches to understanding adolescent literacy learning in a variety of settings Distinguished contributors examine how well adolescents are served by current instructional practices and highlight ways to translate research findings more effectively into sound teaching and policymaking The book explores social and cultural factors in adolescents approach to communication and response to instruction and sections address literacy both in and out of schools including literacy expectations in the contemporary workplace Detailed attention is given to issues of diversity and individual differences among learners Winner Literacy Research Association's Fry Book Award Film as Social Practice Graeme Turner,2002-09-11 Turner provides a clear introduction to major theoretical issues in the history of film production and film studies examining the function of film as a national cultural industry and its place in our popular culture Pope Francis and Campus Ministry James J. Bacik, 2018

Identifies specific ways Pope Francis can influence campus ministry in the United States in the years ahead
