years had passed since the seminary's founding and the Pope considered the new campus completion a stronger flame of hope for the Church in the United States of America and in the world. Devotion to the Holy Father, the grace of priestly ordination and a solid training in the Church's teachings were the three treasures that young men trained at the NAC brought back with them to the United States as priests. In this follow-up to Father Robert McNamara's monumental work The American College in Rome 1855-1955, Monsignor Stephen M. DiGiovanni advances the history of the College over the next quarter century. The American students in the 1950s were not the same as those who had lived in the old seminary during the previous century. The world was very different after numerous revolutions, social upheavals and two world wars. Other forces were at work as well, including some changes just beginning to take place in American society which would become radically and publicly manifest on American university and seminary campuses during the next decades, even in Rome. If prior to the Second Vatican Council everything was clear and regimented, then during and after the Council, less and less was clear-cut or well-defined on the Hill of Janus. In fact, few could have predicted the aggiornamento or updating that was on the horizon that would profoundly reshape for better or worse the NAC and its future priests.

Foul is Fair Robert O. Scott, 2008-12-18

Autumn 1943: After yet another secret mission into German-occupied Holland, John Armstrong is now the only survivor of what started out as a five-strong S.B.S. team. While he is in hiding at a farm run by Dutch Patriots, a deep, passionately powerful love suddenly explodes between John and Anna Maurik, the daughter of the absent farm owner. When the time comes for his long-delayed return to Britain, John promises to marry Anna once the war is over. Will Anna manage to avoid the Gestapo until then? Will John survive his Royal Navy duties and his most dangerous S.B.S. activities? Will they ever have the chance to see the beauty of John's native Lake District homeland as man and wife?
