Performing Factuality in John Dunton's Athenian Cosmos Jaroslaw Jasenowski,2024-08-03 Starting from the fundamental epistemological shifts characterising the seventeenth century this book explores the re conceptualization of the notion of truth and asks how factuality along with other truth carrying discourses was appropriated by a range of texts to generate credibility Tracing the numerous ways in which authors such as John Dunton Charles Gildon Fran ois Perreaud Thomas Brown or Joseph Addison and Richard Steele deliberately toyed with the truth effects generated by their participation in discourses such as proto science medicine philosophy law and religion this monograph argues that truth is not a monolithic constant Performing Factuality proposes that truth is protean ever emerging from a simultaneously conventionalised yet constantly mutating set of practices something which not simply is but something which is actively done This performative dimension finds one of its most powerful examples in the case of Dunton and his handful of collaborators working on the Athenian Mercury which set the tone in periodical publication for decades if not centuries to come The Origins of the English Novel, 1600-1740 Michael McKeon,2002-05-22 The novel emerged McKeon contends as a cultural instrument designed to engage the epistemological and social crises of the age Truth ,1883 Family and the Scottish Working-class Novel, 1984-1994 Horst Prillinger,2000 They fuck you up your mum and dad the poet Philip Larkin wrote a few decades ago Sometimes more sometimes less explicitly Scottish authors of the past twenty years have written down their point of view on the state of the working class family This study deals with nineteen novels written between 1984 and 1994

and two precursors written about ten years earlier Following the family sociologists model of the family life cycle the study examines the vital stages of family life in novels spanning four generations of Scottish writers from Robin Jenkins b 1912 to A L Kennedy b 1965 The homely web of truth Lawrence Jay Dessner,2018-12-03 No detailed description available for The homely web of truth Wrong-Doing, Truth-Telling Michel Foucault,2014-06-04 Three years before his death Michel Foucault delivered a series of lectures at the Catholic University of Louvain that until recently remained almost unknown These lectures which focus on the role of avowal or confession in the determination of truth and justice provide the missing link between Foucault s early work on madness delinquency and sexuality and his later explorations of subjectivity in Greek and Roman antiquity Ranging broadly from Homer to the twentieth century Foucault traces the early use of truth telling in ancient Greece and follows it through to practices of self examination in monastic times By the nineteenth century the avowal of wrongdoing was no longer sufficient to satisfy the call for justice there remained the question of who the criminal was and what formative factors contributed to his wrong doing The call for psychiatric expertise marked the birth of the discipline of psychiatry in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries as well as its widespread recognition as the foundation of criminology and modern criminal justice Published here for the first time the 1981 lectures have been superbly translated by Stephen W Sawyer and expertly edited and extensively annotated by Fabienne Brion and Bernard E Harcourt They are accompanied by two contemporaneous interviews with Foucault in which he elaborates on a number of the key themes An essential companion to Discipline and Punish Wrong Doing Truth Telling will take its place as one of the most significant works of Foucault to appear in decades and will be necessary reading for all those interested in his thought
