two competing rope teams made their way to the summit of the Matterhorn The mountain was considered invincible until Italians and Britons had the iron will to climb the colossus in the middle of the 19th century The team around the British alpinist Edward Whymper won the race It was sensational that for the first time people boarded the Matterhorn for good But his rough aura was to take revenge when the men descended the mountain four of the seven climbers fell into the abyss which is why the first ascent heralded the end of the Golden Age of Alpinism What exactly happened in the crash This commemorative volume keeps the memory alive

Matterhorn Centenary Arnold Lunn, 1965 The Laboratory of Progress Joseph Jung, 2022-07-29 The Laboratory of Progress Switzerland in the 19th Century tells the improbable story of how a small backward mountainous agricultural country with almost no raw materials became an industrial powerhouse a hub of innovation a touristic mecca and a pioneer in transportation all in the course of a single century That a tiny landlocked country should become a dominant steamship builder for the rest of the world that a country that had never seen a cotton plant should become the world's second largest textile producer that a country with hardly any level terrain should come to boast the world's most highly developed railway network and that a country whose main export was impoverished emigrants should be transformed into one of the world's major financial centres these astonishing developments among many others are explored and explained both through the specific stories of individual innovators and through a prescient analysis of the political economic societal and cultural structures that formed the context in which Switzerland's astonishing transformation took place The book is a compelling read both for professional historians and for general readers with an interest in Switzerland it highlights the roles of transport networks and individual pioneers in industrial and political development

Scrambles Amongst The Alps In The Years 1860-69 Edward Whymper, 2013-04-18 The ascent of Mont Pelvoux including the disagreeables was a very delightful scramble The mountain air did not act as an emetic the sky did not look black instead of blue nor did I feel tempted to throw myself over precipices I hastened to enlarge my experience and went to the Matterhorn I was urged towards Mont Pelvoux by those mysterious impulses which cause men to peer into the unknown Not only was this mountain reputed to be the highest in France and on that account was worthy of attention but it was the dominating point of a most picturesque district of the highest interest which to this day remains almost unexplored The Matterhorn attracted me simply by its grandeur It was considered to be the most thoroughly inaccessible of all mountains even by those who ought to have known better Stimulated to make fresh exertions by one repulse after another I returned year after year as I had opportunity more and more determined to find a way up it or to prove it to be really inaccessible
