Interactional Categorization and Gatekeeping Louise Tranekjær, 2015-05-06 This book is about categorization processes in native non native workplace interaction within the context of internship interviews between Danish employers and second language speakers who were born abroad In this volume which is one of the first books on gatekeeping Tranekjær seeks to address processes of power and ideology from a conversation analytical perspective The book examines the challenges that non native internship candidates face in processes of employment when employers and job counsellors seek to conceptualize categorize and address the candidates linguistic ethnic and religious otherness The book shows how processes of categorization are influenced by broader structures of ideology related to social issues of controversy and debate such as migration integration and second language learning The book also includes an overview of previous gatekeeping studies and proposes a redefinition of the term which suggests a broader meaning and relevance of the notion Conversation Analytic Research on Learning-in-Action John Hellermann, Søren W. Eskildsen, Simona Pekarek Doehler, Arja Piirainen-Marsh, 2019-11-04 This volume offers insights on language learning outside the classroom or in the wild where L2 users themselves are the driving force for language learning The chapters by scholars from around the world critically examine the concept of second language learning in the wild The authors use innovative data collection methods such as video and audio recordings collected by the participants during their interactions outside classrooms and analytic methods from conversation analysis to provide a radically emic perspective on the data Analytic claims are supported by evidence from how the participants in the interactions interpret one another's language use and interactional conduct This allows the authors to scrutinize the term wild showing what distinguishes L2 practices in our different datasets and how those practices differ from the L2 learner data documented in other more controlled settings such as the classroom We also show how our findings can feed back into the development of materials for classroom language instruction and ultimately can support the implementation of usage based L2 pedagogies In sum we uncover what it is about the language use in these contexts that facilitates developmental changes over time in L2 speakers and their co participants interactional practices for language learning Why Do You Ask? Alice Freed, Susan Ehrlich, 2010-01-26 The act of questioning is the primary speech interaction between an institutional speaker and someone outside the institution These roles dictate their language practices Why Do You Ask is the first collected volume to focus solely on the question answer process drawing on a range of methodological approaches like Conversational Analysis Discourse Analysis Discursive Psychology and Sociolinguistics and using as data not just medical legal and educational environments but also less studied institutions like telephone call centers broadcast journalism i e talk show interviews academia and telemarketing An international roster of well known contributors addresses such issues as the relationship between the syntax of the question and its discourse function the kind of institutional work that questions perform the degree to which the questioner can control the direction of the conversation and how questions are used to repackage responses to construct meaning and to serve the institutional goals of speakers Why Do You Ask will appeal to linguists and others interested in institutional discourse as well as those interested in the grammatical pragmatic nature of questions
