The Status of Student Involvement in University Governance in Kenya Mulinge, Munyae M.,Arasa, Josephine N.,2017-05-05 This book examines the concept of the democratization of governance in universities in Kenya with particular emphasis on students involvement in governance processes and decision making Data were collected from members of the student community utilizing a structured self administered questionnaire and from purposively selected key informants and focus group discussants drawn from Kenyatta University representing the public sector and the United States International University representing the private sector The guiding argument for the study was that shared governance one of the principles of good governance is critical in enabling the universities to deliver their visions and the missions effectively The results revealed that while in principle Kenyan universities have embraced democratic governance in which all stakeholders including students have a role to play in practice they continue to violate the core principles of good governance particularly shared governance Specifically students who are major stakeholders in university education are largely excluded from significant structures of governance thereby limiting their influence and participation Although their representation is mainly provided via student self governance organs unions associations and or councils their effectiveness is undermined considerably by the lack of trust and confidence of the student body and the unending manipulation by top university administrators and external political actors Student active involvement in decision making is mainly confined to lower levels such as the school faculty and departmental programme The authors call for a paradigm shift in the involvement of students in the governance of universities in ways that discourage the current culture of tokenism and political correctness that characterizes public and private universities in Kenya

Global Initiatives and Higher Education in the Fourth Industrial Revolution Erna Oliver, 2022-11-08 The Fourth industrial Revolution 4IR is forcing higher education HE into a new era where it must either actively and positively contribute to innovation sustainability and development or become obsolete and redundant HE must leave its ivory tower and forge links and partnerships with society industry and governing bodies by delivering graduates that are holistically educated and trained to bring positive innovation and change and to address the challenges that humanity is facing in the 21st century Vocationalisation of Secondary Education Revisited Jon

Lauglo,R. Maclean,2006-03-30 The book is a cutting edge contribution to the debate which has occurred for some time on the pros and cons of secondary education becoming more closely and explicitly related to preparing young people for the world of work The book provides concrete examples of the vocationalisation of secondary education with particular reference to the situation in Africa The target audience for the book includes policy makers practitioners administrators education planners researchers teachers and teacher educators with a concern about the relationship between secondary education and education for the world of work with particular reference to technical and vocational education and training TVET The book appears in the Springer book series on Technical and Vocational Education and Training Issues Concerns and Prospects and compliments the International Handbook of Technical and Vocational Education and Training and other publications in the International Library of TVET all of which are publications of the UNESCO UNEVOC International Centre for TVET in Bonn Germany Indigenous Languages and Indigenous Knowledge in East Africa Esther Mukewa Lisanza,Catherine

Mwihaki Ndungo,2024-09-11 In Indigenous Languages and Indigenous Knowledge in East Africa Swahili Kikuyu and Kamba Esther Mukewa Lisanza and Catherine Mwihaki Ndungo argue that African languages and indigenous knowledge forms are the tools which have made African communities such as Swahili Kikuyu and Kamba thrive for generations Using interviews and research data this book investigates the following questions what is the nature and role of multilingualism in East Africa what role do herbs and indigenous foods play in Swahili Kamba and Kikuyu communities how are the communities governed indigenously and what is the connection between indigenous languages and knowledge The findings presented within this study have demonstrated that multilingualism is a great resource in East Africa as many have prided themselves on their multilingual abilities within their education careers and cultures Although these languages have been identified as carriers of indigenous governance judiciary and herbal medicine that have survived for generations Lisanza and Ndungo advocate for policies and education systems to recenter these indigenous languages and their accompanying indigenous knowledge forms and practices once the older generations have passed on Transformative Innovation in Times of Change Erika
