The Gardens are a tremendous big place with millions and hundreds of trees and first you come to the Figs but you scorn to loiter there for the Figs is the resort of superior little persons who are forbidden to mix with the commonalty and is so named according to legend because they dress in full fig These dainty ones are themselves contemptuously called Figs by David and other heroes and you have a key to the manners and customs of this dandiacal section of the Gardens when I tell you that cricket is called crickets here Occasionally a rebel Fig climbs over the fence into the world and such a one was Miss Mabel Grey of whom I shall tell you when we come to Miss Mabel Grey's gate She was the only really celebrated Fig We are now in the Broad Walk and it is as much bigger than the other walks as your father is bigger than you David wondered if it began little and grew and grew until it was quite grown up and whether the other walks are its babies and he drew a picture which diverted him very much of the Broad Walk giving a tiny walk an airing in a perambulator In the Broad Walk you meet all the people who are worth knowing and there is usually a grown up with them to prevent them going on the damp grass and to make them stand disgraced at the corner of a seat if they have been mad dog or Mary Annish To be Mary Annish is to behave like a girl whimpering because nurse won't carry you or simpering with your thumb in your mouth and it is a hateful quality but to be mad dog is to kick out at everything and there is some satisfaction in that Peter Pan dans les jardins de Kensington... James Matthew Barrie, 1988 Peter Pan in Kensington Gardens / Peter and Wendy J.
