Nicola Mößner, Alfred Nordmann, 2017-03-16 This collection offers a new understanding of the epistemology of measurement. The interdisciplinary volume explores how measurements are produced for example in astronomy and seismology in studies of human sexuality and ecology in brain imaging and intelligence testing. It considers photography as a measurement technology and Henry David Thoreau's poetic measures as closing the gap between mind and world. By focusing on measurements as the hard won results of conceptual as well as technical operations, the authors of the book no longer presuppose that measurement is always and exclusively a means of representing some feature of a target object or entity. Measurement also provides knowledge about the degree to which things have been standardized or harmonized; it is an indicator of how closely human practices are attuned to each other and the world. International Conference on Computer Vision, 1999     Japanese Technical Abstracts, 1987     Proceedings, 31st International Symposium on Remote Sensing of Environment, 2005     ICASSP 87, 1987     International Aerospace Abstracts, 1985     Journal of the Optical Society of America, 1985
