Seaton,2007-03-12

Japan s Contested War Memories is an important and significant book that explores the struggles within contemporary Japanese society to come to terms with Second World War history Focusing particularly on 1972 onwards the period starts with the normalization of relations with China and the return of Okinawa to Japan in 1972 and ends with the sixtieth anniversary commemorations Analyzing the variety of ways in which the Japanese people narrate contest and interpret the past the book is also a major critique of the way the subject has been treated in much of the English language Philip Seaton concludes that war history in Japan today is more divisive and widely argued over than in any of the other major Second World War combatant nations Providing a sharp contrast to the many orthodox statements about Japanese ignorance amnesia and denial about the war this is an engaging and illuminating study that will appeal to scholars and students of Japanese history politics cultural studies society and memory theory     Gathering Places Laura Lynn Peers,Carolyn Podruchny,2010

British traders and Ojibwe hunters Cree women and their metis daughters Explorers and anthropologists and Aboriginal guides and informants These people their relationships and their complex identities were not featured in histories until the 1970s when scholars from multiple disciplines brought new perspectives and approaches to bear on the past Gathering Places presents some of the most innovative and interdisciplinary approaches to metis fur trade and First Nations history being practised today Whether they are discussing dietary practices on the Plateau the meanings of totemic signatures or issues of representation in public history the authors present novel explorations of evidence that extend beyond earlier histories centred on the archive By drawing on archaeological material oral and ethnographic evidence and by exploring personal approaches to history and scholarship these essays mark a significant departure from the old paradigm of history writing and will serve as models for recovering Aboriginal and cross cultural experiences and perspectives     *Norbert M.
