Research on the thesis was made possible through a grant provided by the Swiss National Science Foundation SNF from 2000 to 2002 for a project on the history and epistemology of scientific illustrations Project No 1152 059499 Gerd Grahn headed this programme at the University of Bern and made my reworking of the thesis into a book in English possible He also provided the funding for the services of a professional copy editor Margareta Simons Bern The findings presented in this book are closely related to the general results of the SNF project which are published elsewhere the source material can be found consulted in an earlier monograph and in an electronic edition on the internet the theoretical approach will be more thoroughly investigated in a textbook on the analysis of scientific illustrations In addition this study has made use of theoretical concepts developed by Gerd Grahn which in their latest form have yet to be published these concern primarily the model concept discussed in Chapter 3 The criteria put forward for optimizing scientific illustrations which are dealt with in Chapter 7 were also originally proposed by Gerd Grahn they were refined and elaborated in the SNF project Some of the material on the copying links presented in this book was first published in 2 an article in Studies in History and Philosophy of Science Part C while some of the material in Chapter 5 on the hand colouring of illustration was 3 published prior to this book in the Annals of Science

I was able to access source material for this study from several archives and 4 institutions Most of the images that I examined originated from copies held in the University Library Göttingen while the remaining illustrations came from 1 See Nickelsen 2000 Nickelsen Grahn 2001 and Grahn et al 2001 The Conservation of Artifacts Made from Plant Materials Mary-Lou E.
