Overcoming Gender Inequalities through Technology Integration Wilson, Joseph, 2016-01-26 Information Communication Technologies ICTs exert a great influence on global activities ITC has affected the structure of governments economies cultures and even human health Another area in which ICT has had a tremendous impact is within the developing world and nations where women face repression and fewer opportunities Overcoming Gender Inequalities through Technology Integration is a critical source for understanding the role of technology adoption within female empowerment and equality in developing nations and beyond This publication examines the strategies applicable to the use of technology in the pursuit of societal recognition of women in addition to the trajectory and visibility of women in developing as well as developed countries in which they have access to ICTs This book is an essential reference source for students and teachers of gender studies or information technology women's advocacy groups policy makers NGOs and technology developers

Alice in Space Gillian Beer, 2018-01-26 An examination of Carroll's books about Alice explores the contextual knowledge of the time period in which it was written addressing such topics as time games mathematics and taxonomies

Blindness Through the Looking Glass Gili Hammer, 2019-10-03 Modern Western culture is saturated with images imprinting visual standards of concepts such as beauty and femininity onto our collective consciousness Blindness Through the Looking Glass examines how gender and femininity are performed and experienced in everyday life by women who do not rely on sight as their dominant mode of perception identifying the multiple senses involved in the formation of gender identity within social interactions Challenging visuality as the dominant mode to understand gender social performance and visual culture the book offers an ethnographic investigation of blindness and sight as a human condition putting both blindness and vision on display by discussing people's auditory tactile and olfactory experiences as well as vision and sight and by exploring ways that individuals perform blindness and sightedness in their everyday lives Based on in depth interviews with 40 blind women in Israel and anthropological fieldwork the book investigates the social construction and daily experience of blindness in a range of domains Uniquely the book brings together blind symbolism with the everyday experiences of blind and sighted individuals joining in mutual conversation the fields of disability studies visual culture anthropology of the senses and gender studies

Strange Sisters Francesca Orestano, 2009 This collection of essays stems from the conference Nineteenth Century Literature and Aesthetics which was held at the University of Milan in 2006 and organised by the editors of this volume The interface between word and image covered in these essays embraces the fields of literature architecture painting photography music and art criticism The authors stress the role of aesthetics in a number of contexts ranging from the early 1830s to the fin de siècle and beyond as far as the last influences of Victorian taste on the early years of the twentieth century During the nineteenth century the ancient interaction between literature and aesthetics was challenged and criticised by Martineau Rossetti Ruskin Pater Wilde Beardsley Cameron and Carroll among others their awareness of the complexity of visual perception problematised the existing categories of realism artistic conventions discourse of description translation and representation The essays cover almost a century of debate between literature and aesthetics They focus on the intersection of word and image by emphasising transgressions in art hierarchies forms and languages which restyle existing categories and project them into new aesthetic dimensions beyond the conventional idea of the sister arts

Publishers' circular and booksellers' record, 1897

The Cracked Lookingglass Albert Wachtel, 1992 There are basic problems and if we can't solve them we should hold off on theorizing To begin at the beginning what was Father Flynn's great wish for the boy in The Sisters The uncle thinks he knows but is he right Can we be sure How And how about the beginning and end of An Encounter How do they fit together What is the specific import to the boy in Araby of the shards of conversation between the salesgirl and the Britishers Can we or Eveline be certain of Frank's motives in her story If not what relevance do they have And how in A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man do Stephen's use and understanding of art evolve In what crucial respects do they fall short of the understanding a careful reader of the novel can attain What in Ulysses does Buck Mulligan have in mind when he demands twopence for a pint of what And in what ways are Bloom's ruminations about things like mity cheese that digests all but itself and saltwater fish Why is it that they are not crucial to the novel There are bigger questions What roles do all the accidental occurrences play Do they heighten or diminish causality and probability What are the functions of allusion and stylistic experimentation Is there any overriding significance to the whole Is there a didactic component in Joyce's writing If so is the didactic element a flaw in his art What is the relationship between art and instruction in Joyce and in general Is good didactic art a contradiction in terms These latter questions are enticing but to speculate theorize deconstruct or decontextualize Joyce's works with regard to them without a firm understanding and perhaps even answers to the vital though sometimes seemingly trivial former questions is to abrogate critical responsibility and relinquish what one of the formative giants of the twentieth century has to say to us When relevant the former are almost always answerable and the mundane answers often surprising are frequently crucial not only for answering the latter questions but for fresh insight into both Joyce's world and our own By mapping routes to the revelations such mundane facts yield The Cracked Lookingglass establishes a firm base for future interpretations of Joyce's stories from Dubliners through Ulysses It approaches his works as fictional histories grounding its exemplary readings in relationships among the underlying facts of Joyce's created worlds The study presents both a method of inquiry and as examples of its fruit some of the ways in which the apparent undiscoverables of Joyce's fiction disclose new and indisputable insights into his characters and stories and through them our world The approach opens avenues of access to the depths of Dubliners to the assessments of art religion and human relationships in A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man to the necessitous underpinnings of Joyce's experimentation in Ulysses the ground and justification of his uses of psychocausal chance the mythical method and the seemingly gratuitous stylistic experiments that mirror our lives and suggest new directions for them
