Three Day Road:

Three Day Road Joseph Boyden, 2010-09-09 The stories of an American Indian sniper caught up in the Great War and of his aunt one of the last Cree Indians to live off the land are intertwined in a mesmerising journey as they travel home over three days This beautiful haunting novel begins as Niska is reunited with her nephew Xavier after he returns from the horrors of the First World War As she slowly paddles her canoe on the 3 day journey to take him home travelling through the stark but stunning landscape of Northern Canada their respective stories emerge Niska is the last Cree Indian woman living off the land in Canada She recalls her memories of growing up among her kinsfolk of trying to remain true to her ancestors and traditions in a rapidly changing world Xavier joined the war reluctantly at the urging of his only friend Elijah a Cree boy raised in the reservation schools Elijah and Xavier honed their hunting skills as snipers in the horrors of the trenches and the wastes of No man s land But as the war continues they react in very different ways to the never ending carnage around them Niska realises that in the aftermath of war Xavier s very soul is dying but will the three day journey home be enough to help him find hope again

Catching the Torch Neta Gordon, 2014-03-25 Catching the Torch examines contemporary novels and plays written about Canada s participation in World War I Exploring such works as Jane Urquhart s The Underpainter and The Stone Carvers Jack Hodgins s Broken Ground Kevin Kerr s Unity 1918 Stephen Massicotte s Mary s Wedding and Frances Itani s Deafening the book considers how writers have dealt with the compelling myth that the Canadian nation was born in the trenches of the Great War In contrast to British and European remembrances of WWI which tend to regard it as a cataclysmic destroyer of innocence or Australian myths that promote an ideal of outsize masculinity physical bravery and white superiority contemporary Canadian texts conjure up notions of distinctively Canadian values tolerance of ethnic difference the ability to do one s duty without complaint or arrogance and the inclination to show moral as well as physical courage Paradoxically Canadians are shown to decry the horrors of war while making use of its productive cultural effects Through a close analysis of the way sacrifice service and the commemoration of war are represented in these literary works Catching the Torch argues that iterations of a secure mythic notion of national identity one that is articulated via the representation of straightforward civic and military participation work to counter current anxieties about the stability of the nation state in particular anxieties about the failure of the ideal of a national character

Three Day Road Joseph Boyden, 2006-04-25 Set in Canada and the battlefields of France and Belgium Three Day Road is a mesmerizing novel told through the eyes of Niska a Canadian Oji Cree woman living off the land who is the last of a line of healers and diviners and her nephew Xavier At the urging of his friend Elijah a Cree boy raised in reserve schools Xavier joins the war effort Shipped off to Europe when they are nineteen the boys are marginalized from the Canadian soldiers not only by their native appearance but also by the fine marksmanship that years of hunting in the bush has taught them Both become snipers renowned for their uncanny accuracy But while Xavier struggles to understand the purpose of the war and to come to terms with his conscience for the many lives he has ended Elijah becomes obsessed with killing taking great risks to become the most accomplished sniper in the army Eventually the harrowing and bloody truth of war takes its toll on the two friends in different profound ways Intertwined with this account is the story of Niska who herself has borne witness to a lifetime of death the death of her people In part inspired by the legend of Francis Pegahmagabow the great Indian sniper of World War I Three Day Road is an impeccably researched and beautifully written story that offers a searing reminder about the cost of war Carnivalizing Reconciliation Hanna Teichler,2021-10-15

Transitional justice and national inquiries may be the most established means for coming to terms with traumatic legacies but it is in the more subtle social and cultural processes of memory work that the pitfalls and promises of reconciliation are laid bare This book analyzes within the realms of literature and film recent Australian and Canadian attempts to reconcile with Indigenous populations in the wake of forced child removal As Hanna Teichler demonstrates their systematic emphasis on the subjectivity of the victim is problematic reproducing simplistic narratives and identities defined by victimization Such fictions of reconciliation venture beyond simplistic narratives and identities defined by victimization offering new opportunities for confronting painful histories

Three Day Road Joseph Boyden,2005 It is 1919 and Niska an Oji Cree medicine woman has left her home in the bush of northern Ontario to receive Xavier Bird her only relation who has returned from the trenches of Europe Gravely wounded and addicted to morphine Xavier recounts how he and his best friend Elijah Whiskeyjack prowled the battlefields as snipers of enormous skill and how the circumstances of their deadly craft led them to very different fates Told with unblinking focus this is a stunning tale of brutality survival and rebirth that marks the arrival of a prodigious new talent From the bookjacket

New Soundings in Postcolonial Writing Janet Wilson,Chris Ringrose,2016-08-29 New Soundings in Postcolonial Writing is a collection of critical and creative writing in honour of the postcolonial critic editor and anthologist Bruce King There are essays on topics relating to Caribbean authors Derek Walcott Simone and Andre Schwarz Bart diaspora writers in England Zadie Smith Andrea Levy Michael Ondaatje South East Asian writing in English Arun Kolatkar recent Pakistani fiction Anita Desai and New Zealand Canadian and Pacific writers Albert Wendt Patricia Grace Bill Manhire Joseph Boyden Greg O'Brien The creative writing section features new work by David Dabydeen Fred D Aguiar Arvind Mehrotra Jeet Thayil Meena Alexander Keki Daruwalla Adil Jussawalla Tabish Khair Susan Visvanathan and others reflecting King's pioneering work on Indian poetry in English and his many friendships National Plots Andrea Cabajsky,Brett Josef Grubisic,2010-07-09 Fiction that reconsiders challenges reshapes and or upholds national narratives of history has long been an integral aspect of Canadian literature Works by writers of historical fiction from early practitioners such as John Richardson to contemporary figures such as Alice Munro and George Elliott Clarke propose new views and understandings of Canadian history and individual relationships to it Critical evaluation of these works sheds light on the complexity of these depictions The contributors in National Plots Historical Fiction and Changing Ideas of Canada critically examine texts with subject matter ranging from George Vancouver's west coast explorations to the eradication of the Beothuk in Newfoundland. Reflecting diverse methodologies and theoretical approaches, the essays seek to explicate depictions of the historical in individual texts and to explore larger questions relating to historical fiction as a genre with complex and divergent political motivations and goals. Although the topics of the essays vary widely as a whole, the collection raises and answers questions about the significance of the roles historical fiction has played within Canadian culture for nearly two centuries. Summarized and Analyzed: Three Day Road Student World, 2017-06-16

Before telling about the novel, it is important to note that Joseph Boyden, the author of the present novel, had grown up listening to the war stories from his maternal grandfather and an uncle from his father's side. Both of these relatives had fought in the First World War and they had several stories to tell. The author's father was also a Second World War veteran and he had many stories to tell his son. The present novel, according to the author, draws upon several family narratives.

Speaking in the Past Tense Herb Wyile, 2009-10-22

Speaking in the Past Tense participates in an expanding critical dialogue on the writing of historical fiction, providing a series of reflections on the process from the perspective of those souls intrepid enough to step onto what is practically, by definition, contested territory. Herb Wyile, from the Introduction: The extermination of the Beothuk, the exploration of the Arctic, the experiences of soldiers in the trenches during World War I, the foibles of Canada's longest-serving prime minister, the Ojibway sniper who is credited with 378 wartime kills—these are just some of the people and events discussed in these candid and wide-ranging interviews with eleven authors whose novels are based on events in Canadian history. These sometimes startling conversations take the reader behind the scenes of the novels and into the minds of their authors. Through them, we explore the writers' motives for writing, the challenges they faced in gathering information and presenting it in fictional form, the sometimes hostile reaction they faced after publication, and perhaps most interestingly the stories that didn't make it into their novels Speaking in the Past Tense provides fascinating insights into the construction of national historical narratives and myths both those familiar to us and those that are still being written

Contested Spaces, Counter-Narratives, and Culture from Below in Canada Roxanne Rimstead, Domenico A. Beneventi, 2019-02-28 Contested Spaces Counter narratives and Culture from Below in Canada and Quebec explores strategies for reading space and conflict in Canadian and Quebecois literature and cultural performances posing questions such as how do these texts and performances produce and contest spatial practices What are the roles of the nation city community and individual subject in reproducing space particularly in times of global hegemony and neocolonialism And in what ways do marginalized individuals and communities represent contest or appropriate spaces through counter narratives and expressions of culture from below Focusing on discord rather than harmony and consensus this collection disturbs the idealized space of Canadian multicultural pluralism to carry literary analysis and cultural studies into spaces often undetected and unforeseen including flophouses and slums shantytowns and urban alleyways underground spaces and peep shows and inner city urban parks as they are experienced by minorities and other marginalized groups These essays are the products of sustained high level collaboration across French and English academic communities in Canada to facilitate
