westlaw are operated by private entrepreneurs in the business of providing precedents to the legal profession Arguing that such services will have a profound effect on the conception and use of precedent Brenner provides an empirical study of both services to show the effects they have already had and outlines the conception of precedent that will result from the use of computers as law reporters This she believes will be a quantitative conception in which judicial decisions will be used in a manner analogous to the use of quantitative data in scientific endeavors This study written with a brilliance often reserved for popular writing at its best is unique in its application of sociology of knowledge principles to the analysis of law reporting in its examination of citations to approximately 25 000 judicial decisions It will be of special interest to lawyers sociologists and policymakers
