Children at Risk Janice Crouse,2017-09-08 The desire for our children to be free from want and danger and to be able to enjoy their youth in innocence would seem to be universal Conventional wisdom says that parents in every socio economic level of society share the dream of preserving their children s innocence All want to provide a childhood and adolescence that shelters and protects children from the harshness of life and nurtures them until they are able to withstand the onslaught of reality One need only look at troubled areas of the world such as Northern Ireland parts of the Middle East or any number of other points on the globe to see how weak is any communion forged out of these universal desires for the welfare of children

Even in the United States the competition of ideas and values about what represents the good society in which to raise our children is fierce as are differing views about the value of innocence and even life itself These differing ideas and values affect people s actions even when they have never reflected on them or have never cared enough to formulate those values

into a coherent worldview Crouse contends that without morals children are at risk Moral boundaries not moral relativism provide a safe haven for children by preserving their innocence and protecting them from predators and pedophiles When authentic religious faith has been quashed children are no longer safe When the underlying values are wrong when there are no common values unifying a people even the best programs and most honorable of intentions are doomed to failure Well intentioned programs and policies inevitably fail miserably without an undergirding moral foundation as is documented by an abundance of data and the social trends in America today

Bad Girls A. Susan Owen, Leah R. Vande Berg, Sarah R. Stein, 2007

Bad Girls examines representational practices of film and television stories beginning with post-Vietnam cinema and ending with postfeminisms and contemporary public disputes over women in the military. The book explores a diverse range of popular media texts from the Alien saga to Ally McBeal and Sex and the City from The Net and VR5 to Sportsnight and G I Jane. The research is framed as a study of intergenerational tensions in portrayals of women and public institutions in careers, governmental service, and interactions with technology. Using iconic texts and their contexts as a primary focus, this book offers a rhetorical and cultural history of the tensions between remembering and forgetting in representations of the American feminist movement between 1979 and 2005. Looking forward, the book sets an agenda for discussion of gender issues over the next twenty-five years and articulates with authority the manner in which transgression itself has become a site of struggle.

Gay TV and Straight America Ron Becker, 2006-02-02.
