Biology: Using and Making a Dichotomous Key

Background: Classification is a way of separating a large group of closely related organisms into smaller subgroups. With a classification system, identification of an organism is easy. The scientific names of organisms are based on the classification systems of living organisms. To classify an organism, scientists often use a key. A dichotomous key is made up of paired statements based on specific traits, such as structure and behavior. Each pair of statements divides the organism to be classified into one category or the other, but not both. By using this classification technique, scientists can more easily identify organisms.

Part A Procedure:

- 1) Use the figure below as a guide to shark/fish parts.

- 2) Complete one shark at a time. For example, let's complete shark #5 together as an example.
- 3) Examine the picture of shark #5 while you read statement 1 on the dichotomous key. Decide if statement 1A or statement 1B is true for shark #5. Follow the directions of the true statement.

Ex: Shark #5 does not have a kite-like body. I must now proceed to statement 2.

- 4) Follow the directions stated by the dichotomous key.

Ex: Shark #5 has a pelvic fin. I must now proceed to statement 3.

- 5) Follow the directions stated by the dichotomous key.

Ex: Shark #5 has five gill slits. I must now proceed to statement 4.

- 6) Follow the directions stated by the dichotomous key.

Ex: Shark #5 has only one dorsal fin. Shark #5 is in the family called SCYLIORHINIDAE.

- 7) Continue this process with each shark until all have been identified. Write the family name on the line next to each shark.

Advances in Comparative Immunology Edwin L.

Cooper,2018-08-07 Immunologists perhaps understandably most often concentrate on the human immune system an anthropocentric focus that has resulted in a dearth of information about the immune function of all other species within the animal kingdom However knowledge of animal immune function could help not only to better understand human immunology but perhaps more importantly it could help to treat and avoid the blights that affect animals which consequently affect humans Take for example the mass death of honeybees in recent years their demise resulting in much less pollination poses a serious threat to numerous crops and thus the food supply There is a similar disappearance of frogs internationally signaling ecological problems among them fungal infections This book aims to fill this void by describing and discussing what is known about non human immunology It covers various major animal phyla its chapters organized in a progression from the simplest unicellular organisms to the most complex vertebrates mammals Chapters are written by experts covering the latest findings and new research being conducted about each phylum Edwin L Cooper is a Distinguished Professor in the Laboratory of Comparative Immunology Department of Neurobiology at UCLA s David Geffen School of Medicine Mapping the Edges and the In-between Nancy Nyquist Potter,2009-06-25 Borderline Personality Disorder BPD is a diagnosis given to a significant number of people in the Western world Yet many of the core concepts symptoms that go with this diagnosis are questionable This book presents a compelling analysis of BPD arguing that it needs to be approached in a new light one that will benefit patients Mercury Awareness and Fish Consumption Among Wisconsin Residents Elizabeth A.
