State Board of Agriculture,1883      Hawai'i's Russian Adventure Peter R. Mills,2018-04-30 In the early 1800s thousands of American and European traders arrived in Hawai i to lay in supplies for the long trip east or to take on Hawaiian sandalwood which commanded a high price in China In response to this developing global economy in the Pacific Russia expanded its trading outposts as far as western Kaua i and together with Kaua i chiefs began planning the construction of Fort Elisabeth in Waimea in 1816 A year later the structure was abandoned by the Russians but as Peter Mills argues convincingly a long and significant history of the fort remains to be told even after its Russian one had ended Seeking to redress the imbalance that exists between the colonized and the colonizers in Pacific historiography Mills examines the fort and its place in the history of Kaua i under paramount chief Kaumuali i and in relation to the expanding kingdom of Kamehameha and his successors His work exposes how Hawaiians have been ignored in their own history and challenges commonly held assumptions such as Kamehameha s unification of the Islands in 1810 and the victimization of Kaumuali i by representatives of the Russian American Company Using hundreds of firsthand accounts in combination with field archaeology Mills shows that the fort was originally built and used by Hawaiians as a heiau ritual temple After the Russians departure Hawaiians continued to use the fort but in ways that reflected an ongoing transformation of cultural values provoked by contact with outsiders and the development of multiethnic communities in Waimea and other port settlements throughout the Hawaiian chain Hawai i s Russian Adventure is an original look at a significant chapter in the history of Hawai i It overturns many popular myths and perceptions about the fort at Waimea and about European and Hawaiian interaction in the first half of the nineteenth century while delving into some of the central issues in historical anthropology colonialism and the development of global networks      Reports Made to the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Illinois Illinois,1861      The Annual Register ,1857      History Made, History Imagined David Walter Price,1999 In this provocative and original study David Price investigates history as a form of poesis the act of making in language and suggests that certain novels can provide the best means of engaging in historical interpretation Contending that the fundamental act of narration itself including the narration of history expresses a system of values Price explores the work of seven contemporary novelists who share a commitment to reexamining history as idea and a refusal to accept history as given Within a theoretical framework based on Friedrich Nietzsche and Giambattista Vico Price investigates how these writers Carlos Fuentes Susan Daitch Salman Rushdie Michel Tournier Ishmael Reed Graham Swift and Mario Vargas Llosa create a discursive space between history and literature a space within which history can be questioned and the making of history explored Through their novels these writers replace the univocal expression of history as a description of what really happened with a polyvocality of competing discourses languages and points of view Price s investigation of three modalities of the poietic novel the history of forgotten possibilities the construction of countermemory and cultural critique and history as myth has far reaching implications for how we read and question the narratives we understand as history By treating the past as a dynamic flow of values rather than a fixed collection of facts History Made History Imagined fosters a deeper understanding not only of literature and philosophy but also of history and our relationship to it
