Yutaka Arai,2009 This monograph analyses the historical evolution of the laws of occupation as a special branch of international humanitarian law IHL focusing on the extent to which this body of law has been transformed by its interaction with the development of international human rights law It argues that a large part of the laws of occupation has proved to be malleable while being able to accommodate changing demands of civilians and any other persons affected by occupation in modern context Its examinations have drawn much on archival research into the drafting documents of the instruments of IHL including the aborted Brussels Declaration 1874 the 1899 1907 Hague Regulations the 1949 Geneva Conventions and the 1977 Additional Protocol I After assessing the complementary relationship between international human rights law and the laws of occupation the book examines how to provide a coherent explanation for an emerging framework on the rights of individual persons affected by occupation It engages in a theoretical appraisal of the role of customary IHL and the Martens clause in building up such a normative framework

Excavating Victorians Virginia Zimmerman,2009-01-08 Excavating Victorians examines nineteenth century Britain s reaction to the revelations about time and natural history provided by the new sciences of geology and archaeology The Victorians faced one of the greatest paradigm shifts in history the bottom dropped out of time and they had to reinvent their relationship to the earth and to time and history These new sciences took the Victorians by storm inundating them with fossils skeletal remains and potsherds artifacts or traces that served at once as relics from the past objects in the present and markers of time s passage Virginia Zimmerman explores how the Victorians utilized a nexus of literature excavation and reflections on time to ease anxieties about the individual s fate in the face of time s overwhelming expanse The function of artifacts is also considered through careful readings of Tennyson s The Princess and Dickens s Little Dorrit and Our Mutual Friend Zimmerman shows how these literary works make use of the language tropes and even generic conventions of excavation and how they participate in the effort to rescue the individual from temporal insignificance
