War Dixie Kari Frederickson,2013-06-01 Focusing on the impact of the Savannah River Plant SRP on the communities it created rejuvenated or displaced this book explores the parallel militarization and modernization of the Cold War era South The SRP a scientific and industrial complex near Aiken South Carolina grew out of a 1950 partnership between the Atomic Energy Commission and the DuPont Corporation and was dedicated to producing materials for the hydrogen bomb Kari Frederickson shows how the needs of the expanding national security state in combination with the corporate culture of DuPont transformed the economy landscape social relations and politics of this corner of the South In 1950 the area comprising the SRP and its surrounding communities was primarily poor uneducated rural and staunchly Democratic by the mid 1960s it boasted the most PhDs per capita in the state and had become increasingly middle class suburban and Republican The SRP s story is notably dramatic however Frederickson argues it is far from unique The influx of new money new workers and new business practices stemming from Cold War era federal initiatives helped drive the emergence of the Sunbelt These factors also shaped local race relations In the case of the SRP DuPont s deeply conservative ethos blunted opportunities for social change but it also helped contain the radical white backlash that was so prominent in places like the Mississippi Delta that received less Cold War investment On the Road to Recovery Thanks to AA Meetings Thomas

Bennett ,1858 Congressional Record United States. Congress,1992 American Nation Holt Rinehart & Winston,Holt, Rinehart and Winston Staff,2005 European Total Defence Gjermund Forfang Rongved,2025-03-11

This book analyses the origins experiences and challenges of total defence in Europe and comprises a broad spectrum of national case studies as well as one international organisation NATO The topic of total defence has been brought to the fore by deglobalisation augmented international tension the US pivot to Asia grey zone threats Covid 19 and not least by the increased Russian threat during the 2010s which culminated in the invasion of Ukraine in 2022 The analysis here is based on an in depth analysis of the four major Nordic countries the Baltic countries Poland Ukraine Switzerland and the Netherlands as well as a perspective from NATO itself This volume argues that although the activity that we describe as total defence has many labels and various expressions which follow from each country s own history geopolitical setting and strategic culture some aspects of it are to be found in most countries This is because all countries at least to some extent will need their armed forces to rely on civil society in a crisis however it is a long way from this to a full fledged total defence concept With continued international tension the need to build resilient societies and the European need to take more responsibility for its own security in a cost efficient way this book argues that we should expect total defence to gain importance in the 21st century This book will be of much interest to students of security studies defence studies European politics and International Relations in general America in the World Jeffrey A. Dependent Communities Caroline Hughes, 2018-05-31 Dependent Communities investigates the political situations in contemporary Cambodia and East Timor where powerful international donors intervened following deadly civil conflicts This comparative analysis critiques international policies that focus on rebuilding state institutions to accommodate the global market In addition it explores the dilemmas of politicians in Cambodia and East Timor who struggle to satisfy both wealthy foreign benefactors and constituents at home groups whose interests frequently conflict Hughes argues that the policies of Western aid organizations tend to stifle active political engagement by the citizens of countries that have been torn apart by war The neoliberal ideology promulgated by United Nations administrations and other international NGOs advocates state sovereignty but in fact sovereignty is too flimsy a foundation for effective modern democratic politics The result is an oppressive peace that tends to rob survivors and former resistance fighters of their agency and aspirations for genuine postwar independence In her study of these two cases Hughes demonstrates that the clientelist strategies of Hun Sen Cambodia's postwar leader have created a shadow network of elites and their followers that has been comparatively effective in serving the country's villages even though so often coercive and corrupt East Timor's postwar leaders on the other hand have alienated voters by attempting to follow the guidelines of the donors closely and ignoring the immediate needs and voices of the people Dependent Communities offers a searing analysis of contemporary international aid strategies based on the author's years of fieldwork in Cambodia and East Timor
