Hunn, 2015-06-14 Excerpt from The Amateur's Practical Garden Book Like the love of music books and pictures the love of gardens comes with culture and leisure and with the ripening of the home life The love of gardens as of every other beautiful and refining thing must increase to the end of time More and more must the sympathies enlarge There must be more points of contact with the world Life ever becomes richer Gardening is more than the growing of plants it is the expression of desire As there must be many gardeners so there must be many books There must be books for different persons and different ideals The garden made by ones own hands is always the best garden because it is a part of oneself A garden made by another may interest but it is another persons individuality A poor garden of ones own is better than a good garden in which one may not dig Many a poor soul has more help in a plant in the window than another has in a plantation made by a gardener I would emphasize the home garden made by the members of the family About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
