Wade, 2016-05-03 Across the globe populations of plants and animals live in clusters but maintain a connectivity a population of populations There are naturally occurring metapopulations such as clusters of groupers spread across coral reefs and there are metapopulations humans have helped create by fragmenting landscapes stands of trees separated by roads prairies separated by agricultural farms As the dynamics of landscape change have accelerated and understanding of how metapopulations functions has played a critical role in ecology and evolutionary biology Adaptation in Metapopulations synthesizes the role of genetic interactions in adaptive evolution and their influence on the effectiveness of different types of selection Drawing on extensive field work and lab experiments cohered with a strong conceptual arc the work also integrates molecular and organismal biology as Wade explores adaptation at multiple scales and shows how evolutionary dynamics scale from the gene to the metapopulation

Erickson,Andrew Vietze,2012-11-06 The wreck of the Nottingham Galley on Boon Island and the resultant rumors of insurance fraud mutiny treason and cannibalism was one of the most sensational stories of the early 18th century Shortly after departing England with Captain John Deane at the helm his brother Jasper and another investor aboard and a skeleton crew the ship encountered French privateers on her way to Ireland where she then lingered for weeks picking up cargo. They eventually headed into the North Atlantic later in the season than was reasonably safe and found themselves shipwrecked on the notorious Boon Island just off the New England coast. Captain Deane offered one version of the events that led them to the barren rock off the coast of Maine; his crew proposed another. The story contains mysteries that endure to this day, yet no contemporary non-fiction account of the story exists. In the hands of skilled storytellers Andrew Vietze and Stephen Erickson, this becomes a historical adventure mystery that will appeal to readers of South and The Perfect Storm.

Cannibalism and the Colonial World Francis Barker, Peter Hulme, Margaret Iversen, 1998-08-06. In Cannibalism and the Colonial World published in 1998, an international team of specialists from a variety of disciplines (anthropology, literature, art history) discusses the historical and cultural significance of western fascination with the topic of cannibalism. Addressing the image as it appears in a series of texts (popular culture, film, literature, travel writing, and anthropology), the essays range from classical times to contemporary critical discourse. Cannibalism and the Colonial World examines western fascination with the figure of the cannibal and how this has impacted on the representation of the non-western world. This group of literary and anthropological scholars analyses the way cannibalism continues to exist as a term within colonial discourse and places the discussion of cannibalism in the context of postcolonial and cultural studies.

Reworlding America John Muthyala, 2006. By emphasizing transnational migration, border crossing, and colonial modernity, Reworlding America exposes how national, ethnic, linguistic, religious, and cultural boundaries have been continually created and transgressed with profound consequences for the peoples of the Americas.

BOOK JACKET Writing Out of All the Camps Laura Wright, 2013-11-15. Writing Out of all the Camps J. M. Coetzee's Narratives of Displacement is an interdisciplinary examination combining ethical, postcolonial, performance, gender-based, and environmental theory of the ways that 2003 Nobel Prize-winning South African novelist J. M. Coetzee, primarily through his voicing of a female subject position and his presentation of a voiceless subjectivity, the animal displaces both the narrative and authorial voice in his works of fiction. Coetzee's work remains outside of conventional notions of genre by virtue of the free indirect discourse that characterizes many of his third-person narrated texts that feature male protagonists: Life and Times of Michael K, The Master of Petersburg, and Disgrace. Various and differing first-person narrative accounts of the same story, Dusklands. In The Heart of the Country, the use of female narrators and female narrative personas. Age of Iron. The Lives of Animals and unlocatable, ahistorical contexts. Waiting for the Barbarians. The work has broad academic appeal in the established fields of not only literary studies, postcolonial, contemporary, postmodern, and environmental, but also in the realm of performance and gender studies. Because of its broad and interdisciplinary range, this text bridges a conspicuous gap in studies on Coetzee.

Sing Out, 1992. The Making of a Rebel Katherine Stirling Kerr Cawsey, 1998. One Hundred Readings for Assembly David Self, 1993. With daily collective worship now compulsory in schools, this book is a source of short readings for today's assemblies. or an obvious discussion point To help in assembly planning each passage comes with a succinct introduction outlining its purpose
