

Kit Building Lives:

BY ELLIOTT S. KANTER, WA6PGI

The Ramsey FX-146 Two-Meter FM Transceiver Kit

This kit will not only provide you with a polished working unit, but a valuable and enjoyable learning experience to boot.

For those of you to whom "code-free" meant finally getting your Amateur Radio License, Technician Class, welcome to the "fraternity." What remains now, besides waiting for your license to operate to arrive, is the selection and acquisition of a suitable VHF transmitter and receiver, or more likely, finding the right transceiver at an affordable price.

When we were first licensed (K4YOC), the choices were considerably broader, not to mention less expensive. The new ham could choose from equipment made by: Hal-Scrafters, Allied Radio (now Tandy Corp.), Swan, Heath, and a host of other companies who today are no longer (exception: Radio Shack/day) on the ham-radio scene.

At that time, you could purchase a Benton Harbor Lunch Box, a relatively easy-to-build kit from the Heath Company which put you on the VHF bands (10, 6, and 2 meters) for around $50, well within the reach of even the most cash-strapped operator. The lunch boxes were simple, low-power (about 5-watts output) vacuum-tube transceivers with a super-regenerative receiver section and an FM (voice)/CW (code) transmitter. With a little more money, you could then purchase some tools, an antenna system, and of course the required crystals. Even with all these extras, the total cost was still less than $100. To be totally honest, although the rigs were adequate and inexpensive, they left a lot to be desired.

Nowadays, we haven't got as many choices, especially if we want American-made equipment, and even fewer choices if we want to build our own. Heath is no longer active in the ham-kit field. Hal-Scrafters and Swan are no more, and only Tandy Corporation offers an American-made 2-meter handheld transceiver, assuming you have over $240 available, which essentially leaves only Japanese-made equipment selling for at least $270, or another alternative that we'll soon discuss.
