Riding Like the Wind Iris Jamahl Dunkle, 2024-10-15

This saga of a writer done dirty resurrects the silenced voice of Sanora Babb, peerless author of midcentury American literature. In 1939, when John Steinbeck's The Grapes of Wrath was published, it became an instant bestseller and a prevailing narrative in the nation's collective imagination of the era. But it also stopped the publication of another important novel, silencing a gifted writer who was more intimately connected to the true experiences of Dust Bowl migrants. In Riding Like the Wind, renowned biographer Iris Jamahl Dunkle revives the groundbreaking voice of Sanora Babb. Dunkle follows Babb from her impoverished childhood in eastern Colorado to California. There, she befriended the era's literati, including Ray Bradbury and Ralph Ellison, entered into an illegal marriage, and was blacklisted by the House Un-American Activities Committee. It was Babb's field notes and oral histories of migrant farmworkers that Steinbeck relied on to write his novel. But this is not merely a saga of literary usurping; on her own merits, Babb's impact was profound. Her life and work feature heavily in Ken Burns's award-winning documentary The Dust Bowl and inspired Kristin Hannah in her bestseller The Four Winds. Riding Like the Wind reminds us with fresh awareness that the stories we know and who tells them can change the way we remember history.

Soft Shore Protection Constantine Goudas, George Katsiaris, Vincent May, Theophanis Karambas, 2012-12-06

Global warming, melting polar caps, rising sea levels, and intensifying wave current action factors responsible for the alarming phenomena of coastal erosion on the one hand, and adverse environmental impacts and the high cost of hard protection schemes on the other, have created interest in the detailed examination of the potential and range of applicability of the emerging and promising category of soft shore protection methods. Soft methods such as beach nourishment, submerged breakwaters, artificial reefs, gravity drain systems, floating breakwaters, plantations of hydrophyllous shrubs, or even dry branches, applied mostly during the past 20 years, are recognised as possessing technical, environmental, and financial advantageous properties deserving more attention and further developmental experimentation than has occurred hitherto. On the other hand, hard shore protection methods such as seawalls, groins, and detached breakwaters, artefacts borrowed from port design and construction technology, no matter how well designed and well implemented they may be, can hardly avoid intensification of the consequential erosive often devastating effects on the down drift shores Moreover they often do not constitute environmentally and financially attractive solutions for long stretches of eroding shoreline Engineers and scientists practising design and implementation of shore defence schemes have been aware for many years of the public demand for improved shore protection technologies They are encouraging efforts that promise enrichment of those environmentally sound and financially attractive methods that can be safely applied Royce's Sailing Illustrated Patrick M.
