Insulin resistance and hyperinsulinemia are recognized as risk factors in different diseases that have a considerable impact on human life. In addition, insulin resistance and hyperinsulinemia can be linked to different pathophysiological conditions and can lead to moderate to severe complications. Investigation of the possible signaling mechanisms which link insulin resistance and hyperinsulinemia to these diseases or their complications will help to reduce or even prevent their development and progression. Moreover, searching for new treatment or prophylactic strategies will provide new options to improve the life quality of the patients.

Biology of C-reactive Protein Alok Agrawal, Yi Wu, 2024-06-26 C-reactive protein (CRP) is a component of the innate immune system. CRP is synthesized by the liver in response to pro-inflammatory cytokines, and the biosynthesis of CRP increases dramatically during acute inflammation.
