Record collecting and the public stereotypes associated with it is frequently linked primarily with rock and pop music. Roy Shuker focuses on these broad styles but also includes other genres and their collectors notably jazz blues exotica and ethnic music. Accordingly the study examines the history of record collecting profiles collectors and the collecting process considers categories especially music genres and types of record collecting and outlines and discusses the infrastructure within which collecting operates. Shuker situates this discussion within the broader literature on collecting along with issues of cultural consumption social identity and the construction of self in contemporary society.
