Postcolonial Con-Texts John Thieme, 2002-03-01 In recent years works such as Jean Rhys's Wide Sargasso Sea J M Coetzee's Foe and Peter Carey's Jack Maggs which write back to classic English texts have attracted considerable attention as offering a paradigm for the relationship between post colonial writing and the canon Thieme's study provides a broad overview of such writing focusing both on responses to texts that have frequently been associated with the colonial project or the construction of race The Tempest Robinson Crusoe Heart of Darkness and Othello and texts where the interaction between culture and imperialism is slightly less overt Great Expectations Jane Eyre and Wuthering Heights The post colonial con texts examined are located within their particular social and cultural backgrounds with emphasis on the different forms their responses to their pre texts take and the extent to which they create their own discursive space Using Edward Said's models of filiative relationships and affiliative identifications the book argues that writing back is seldom adversarial rather that it operates along a continuum between complicity and oppositionality that dismantles hierarchical positioning It also suggests that post colonial appropriations of canonical pre texts frequently generate re readings of their originals It concludes by considering the implications of this argument for discussions of identity politics and literary genealogies more generally Authors examined include Chinua Achebe Margaret Atwood Kamau Brathwaite Peter Carey J M Coetzee Robertson Davies Wilson Harris Elizabeth Jolley Robert Kroetsch George Lamming Margaret Laurence Pauline Melville V S Naipaul Caryl Phillips Ngugi wa Thiong'o Jean Rhys Salman Rushdie Djanet Sears Sam Selvon Olive Senior Jane Urquhart and Derek Walcott Writing With Skill, Level 2: Instructor Text Susan Wise Bauer, 2013-10-08 Time tested classical techniques the imitation and analysis of great writers combined with original composition exercises in history science biography and

Archaeologia Cambrensis ,1885 Rewriting/Reprising Georges Letissier,2009-10-02 This volume comprises sixteen essays preceded by an introductory chapter focusing on the diverse modalities of textual and more widely artistic transfer Whereas the first Rewriting Reprising volume coord by C Maisonnat J Paccaud Huguet its subversive potential is perceptible notably through its many attempts at emancipating the genre from the ideological fetters of gender Over the past two decades Victorian literature and culture has become an inescapable field of investigations to any study on intertextuality in the English speaking world In a second part diversity has been preferred to any single specific angle to approach the Victorian neo Victorian tropism The purpose is to provide as complete a spectrum as is reasonably possible in such a volume The practice of rewriting in the Victorian age is thus studied alongside contemporary appropriations of the Victorian canon The question is raised of whether literary fetishism may not result in a form of counterfeit classicism while the more challenging neo Victorian rewritings would make a claim for the need to choose one s literary heritage and ancestors This is where the post colonial agenda comes in Precisely the third part investigates the question of rewriting reprising as a way of writing back The myth of Frankenstein s creature bent on wreaking vengeance on his creator is of course seminal as it offers a myth of transgression which in its turn becomes a foundation myth Not only are post colonial responses to their disclaimed parent texts highly theory informed but they also evince an awareness of such contemporary issues which are direct consequences of the colonial past In the last section of this volume the scope of what comes within the range of intertextuality per se is widened to cover artistic dialogism In the exchanges between theatrical texts reprise may be construed as a metaphor standing for the pleasure inherent in the process of recreation The interaction between embedded paintings and the embedding canvas offers yet another variation on the reprise motif as does the meta aesthetic discourse of the critic on the work of art What begins as mere repetition is soon colored by the personal inflections of the interpreter In operatic performances updating a classical text to make it suitable to contemporary audiences and in close harmony with the role assigned to music is liable to spur on the creativity of recreation
