Economic Survey, 2016      Sweet Deal, Bitter Landscape Youjin B. Chung, 2024-01-15 Sweet Deal Bitter Landscape brings us to the mid 2000s when the Tanzanian government struck a deal with a foreign investor to convert more than 20 000 hectares of long settled coastal land to establish a sugarcane plantation Ten years on the deal was abruptly abandoned Popularly deemed a case of hubristic global development critics classified this project another in a line of failed modern resource grabs Youjin B Chung argues such tidy accounts conceal myriad and profound implications not only how gender history and culture shaped the project s trajectory but also how even in its stalled state the deal upended social life on the land by setting in motion incomplete processes of development and dispossession With rich ethnographic detail and visual storytelling Sweet Deal Bitter Landscape traces the lived experiences of diverse rural women and men as they struggled for survival under a seemingly endless condition of liminality In so doing she raises critical questions about the directions and stakes of postcolonial development and nation building in Tanzania and the shifting meanings of identity and belonging for those on the margins of capitalist agrarian transformation      Boundaries, Communities and State-Making in West Africa Paul Nugent, 2019-06-06 By examining three centuries of history this book shows how vital border regions have been in shaping states and social contracts      An Introduction to Global Health Delivery Joia Mukherjee, 2022 In 2019 a child born in Japan will live to the age of 84 whereas a child born in Sierra Leone will only live until the age of 54 1 Similar disparities exist between rich and poor communities within countries 2 These differences in life expectancy are not caused by genetics biology or culture Health inequities are caused by poverty racism a lack of medical care and other social forces that influence health A critical analysis of the historical roots of this gross and systemic inequality and of the political economy that continues inequality is a fundamental part of the study of global health      The Green State in Africa Carl Death, 2016-09-27 A provocative reassessment of the relationship between states and environmental politics in Africa From climate related risks such as crop failure and famine to longer term concerns about sustainable urbanization environmental justice and biodiversity conservation African states face a range of environmental issues As Carl Death demonstrates the ways in which they are addressing them have important political ramifications and challenge current understandings of green politics Death draws on almost a decade of research to reveal how central African environmental politics are to the transformation of African states      The Statesman's Yearbook 2025 Palgrave Macmillan, 2025-01-10 Now in its 161st edition The Statesman s Yearbook continues to be the reference work of choice for accurate and reliable information on every country in the world Covering political economic social and cultural aspects the Yearbook is also available online for subscribing institutions      Kenya Gazette, 1968-04-05 The Kenya Gazette is an official publication of the government of the Republic of Kenya It contains notices of new legislation notices required to be published by law or policy as well as other announcements that are published for general public information It is published every week usually on Friday with occasional releases of special or supplementary editions within the week      Disease Control Priorities, Third Edition (Volume 1)

Mock, 2015-03-23 Essential Surgery is part of a nine volume series for Disease Control Priorities which focuses on health interventions intended to reduce morbidity and mortality The Essential Surgery volume focuses on four key aspects including global financial responsibility emergency procedures essential services organization and cost analysis      Searching for a New Kenya

Stephanie Diepeveen, 2021-05-06 Searching for a New Kenya analyses public discussion in urban Kenya focusing on the gatherings of citizens both in person and online where people discuss issues of common concern to shed light on the role public discussion plays in politics and how social media affects political movements Through rich ethnographic study of politics on the ground and online in Mombasa Stephanie Diepeveen brings a fresh perspective on the wider challenges and dynamics of negotiating political narratives across protracted historical debates and changing digital media Based on a critical revision of Hannah Arendt's ideas about action and power this study explores the different dynamics of public talk in practice It contributes to wider debates about the place and limitations of the Western canon in relation to the study of politics elsewhere while also offering a nuanced view of why and how certain terms of debate persist in Kenya and where the potential for change lies for public talk across changing media      2002 Population and Housing Census: Kigoma region, 2003      Political Thought and the Public Sphere in Tanzania

Emma Hunter, 2015-04-27 This book is a study of the interplay of vernacular and global languages of politics during Africa's decolonization      Citizenship in Africa Bronwen Manby, 2018-11-29 Citizenship in Africa provides a comprehensive exploration of nationality laws in Africa placing them in their theoretical and historical context It offers the first serious attempt to analyse the impact of nationality law on politics and society in different African states from a trans continental comparative perspective Taking a four part approach Parts I and II set the book within the framework of existing scholarship on citizenship from both sociological and legal perspectives and examine the history of nationality laws in Africa from the colonial period to the present day Part III considers case studies which illustrate the application and misapplication of the law in practice and the relationship of legal and political developments in each country Finally Part IV explores the impact of the law on politics and its relevance for questions of identity and belonging today concluding with a set of issues for further research Ambitious in scope and compelling in analysis this is an important new work on citizenship in Africa      Conflictology Francis Onditi, 2020-05-28 Over the past three decades scholars students and policy makers studying and engaged in conflict resolution have veered between conflict management and resolution However the changing nature of conflict which is taking the form of radicalization and extremism are deeply rooted in individual's ideology personalities and genes hence rendering the conventional macro level power balance analytics obsolete The psychology and human genetics are at the center of this evolution This shift in conflict trends and methods of warfare in Africa and the world over demands that we search for alternative approaches mechanisms and innovative response It is against this background that this new book initiates a fundamental debate on how interdisciplinary adventure could increase the understanding of man kind and the socio biological systems surrounding man hence the emphasis on the discipline of Conflictology to embody scientific approaches methods and prescription to conflict resolution For instance does individual s gene influence human behaviours such as hate If so can this be corrected through gene transposition If human relations should be anchored on peace what are these genetic and behavioural factors that creat hate and violence How then should such a gene or neurobiological system be altered in order to prevent extremism and radicalization
