and Safety in Cross Cultural Consumer Contexts Derek V. Byrne, 2021-08-17 The concept of cross cultural perspectives in research in food is important in general and particularly so in relation to human perception in food and health Food concepts are very different across different jurisdictions Different markets and cultures have varying perspectives on what is considered a palatable acceptable or useful food or food product in simple terms one size does not at all in the majority of cases Specific markets thus need targeted food design to be successful from a myriad of perspectives In this Special Issue anthology Food Health and Safety in Cross Cultural Consumer Contexts we bring together articles that show the wide range of studies from fundamental to market applicability currently in focus in sensory and consumer science in food health and safety cross cultural contexts From the included perspectives it is abundantly clear that there is a need for much knowledge related to future food design linked to cross cultural contexts and that this will continue to be critical to the success of food transfer in global food markets
