Second-Best Justice J. Mark Ramseyer,2015-11-19 Japanese society is as legalistic and rulebound as that of the US yet Japanese people file far fewer lawsuits than Americans Explanations for this behavior range from circular arguments about Japanese culture to suggestions that the Japanese court system is so slow moving and unfriendly to plaintiffs that everyone knows better than to engage in it However there is much more to civil litigation in Japan as preeminent scholar of Japanese law J Mark Ramseyer explains in Doing Well by Making Do Second Best Judging in Japanese Law With illustrations drawn from tort claims across many domains auto accidents product liability medical malpractice landlord tenant law and more Ramseyer shows that the low rate of lawsuits in Japan is compelled not by distrust of a dysfunctional system but by a system that sorts and resolves disputes in such an overwhelmingly predictable pattern that only rarely do contesting parties find it worthwhile to involve themselves in the uncertainty of a trial Japanese judges do not pretend to offer the level of particularized inquiry that one expects in American courts The Japanese court system is not designed to find perfect justice It is designed to make do Through close attention to key arenas of tort litigation as well as more obscure corners of the law including labor landlord tenant and consumer finance disputes Doing Well by Making Do offers a key to unlocking the aims incentives flaws and virtues of the distinctive Japanese court system Catalog of Copyright Entries.
