

NSFAS: TOWARDS A MORE EFFECTIVE FUNDING SCHEME ?

- The new NSFAS student-centred model seeks to address some of the challenges related to the non-repayment of loans and to ensure that students are better funded, including the “missing middle”
 - Under the new funding model, NSFAS allocates funding for the student and pays it directly to the institution to fund their tuition costs. According to NSFAS this will ensure that registration fees are paid timeously and more efficiently. In addition to the tuition costs, NSFAS disburses an allowance for food and textbooks and it also makes provision for accommodation and transport costs
 - Recent student protests at the University of the Free State and the University of Venda, which arose after delays in the payment of students’ living allowances (which includes stipends for food) point to the need for improved coordination between NSFAS and universities and colleges so as to ensure that students do not bear the brunt of poor coordination
 - It was unclear whether the delayed living allowances payments were as a result of NSFAS paying the students’ registration fees late or whether it was as a result of universities not responding quickly enough after NSFAS had paid the registration fees

Discrimination in an Unequal World Miguel Angel Centeno, Katherine S. Newman, 2010-09 Is globalization making our world more equal or less Proponents of globalization argue that it is helping and that in a competitive world no one can afford to discriminate except on the basis of skills Opponents counter that globalization does nothing but provide a meritocratic patina on a consistently unequal distribution of opportunity Yet despite the often deafening volume of the debate there is surprisingly little empirical work available on the extent to which the process of globalization over the past quarter century has had any effect on discrimination Tackling this challenge Discrimination in an Unequal World explores the relationship between discrimination and unequal outcomes in the appropriate geographical and historical context Noting how each society tends to see its particular version of discrimination as universal and obvious the editors expand their set of cases to include a broad variety of social relations and practices However since methods differ and are often designed for particular national circumstances they set the much more ambitious and practical goal of establishing a base with which different forms of discrimination across the world can be compared Derived from a broad array of methods the book draws many important lessons on the new means by which the world creates social hierarchies the democratization of inequality and the disappearance of traditional categories
