Rhetoric in Modern Japan Massimiliano Tomasi, 2004-07-31 Rhetoric in Modern Japan is the first volume to discuss the role of Western rhetoric in the creation of a modern Japanese oral and narrative style It considers the introduction of Western rhetoric clarifying its interactions with the forces and synergies that shaped Japanese literature and culture in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Focusing on the Meiji and Taisho years 1868 1926 it challenges the prevailing view among contemporary scholars that rhetoric did not play a significant role in the literary developments of the period Massimiliano Tomasi chronicles the blooming of scholarship in the field in the early 1870s providing the first descriptive analysis and cogently articulated critique of the major rhetorical treatises of the time In discussing the rise of public speaking in early Meiji society he unveils the existence of crucial links between the study of rhetoric and the social and literary events of the time underscoring the key role played by oratory both as a tool for social modernization and as an effective platform for the reappraisal of the spoken language The collusion and conflicts characterizing rhetoric and its relationship with the genbun itchi movement which sought to unify spoken and written language are explored demonstrating that their perceived antagonism was the product of a misguided notion of rhetoric and the process of rhetorical signification rather than a true theoretical conflict Tomasi makes a convincing argument that in fact Western rhetoric mediated between these equally compelling pursuits and paved the way toward an acceptable compromise between classical and colloquial written styles
