Spoken Language Pragmatics Analysis Of Form Function Relations:

Spoken Language Pragmatics Regina Weinert, 2007-09-26 This volume provides a detailed analysis of the relationships between form and function in spontaneous spoken language The contributors analyse English German and Spanish data to present a multilingual perspective on the complexities facing speakers in a variety of contexts Through an examination of everyday language it is shown how speakers position themselves in relation to their discourse Prosody in Interaction

Dagmar Barth-Weingarten, Elisabeth Reber, Margret Selting, 2010-12-22 Prosody is constitutive for spoken interaction In more than 25 years its study has grown into a full fledged and very productive field with a sound catalogue of research methods and principles This volume presents the state of the art illustrates current research trends and uncovers potential directions for future research It will therefore be of major interest to everyone studying spoken interaction The collection brings together an impressive range of internationally renowned scholars from different yet closely related and compatible research traditions which have made a significant contribution to the field They cover issues such as the units of language the contextualization of actions and activities conversational modalities and genres the display of affect and emotion the multimodality of interaction language acquisition and aphasia All contributions are based on empirical audio and or video recorded data of natural talk in interaction including languages such as English German and Japanese The methodologies employed come from Ethnomethodology Conversation Analysis and Interactional Linguistics Perspectives on Formulaic Language David Wood, 2011-11-03 Formulaic sequences are more or less fixed word combinations such as idioms collocations lexical bundles phrasal verbs and so on Study in this area has grown over the past fifteen years despite the fact that there are no academic journals or conferences devoted to this topic This edited collection is an attempt to draw together the diverse international work on formulaic language It features an introduction by Dr Regina Weinert a pioneer and expert in the study of formulaic language in acquisition The authors have an international scope from China and Italy to Armenia Canada and Britain The book is divided into three sections Formulaic Language in Acquisition and Pedagogy Identification and Psycholinguistic Processing of Formulaic Language Communicative Functions of Formulaic Language The topics of the papers are as varied as the geographic locations of the authors critical discourse analysis psycholinguistics memorization corpus analysis specific languages such as Arabic and even Beowulf and blogging language This volume represents a step forward for the study of formulaic language offering diverse often previously unexplored perspectives from international researchers advancing knowledge in innovative ways It makes a fresh contribution the growing number of works on this topic and will appeal to researchers and academics working with formulaic language throughout linguistics Contemporary Approaches to Second Language Acquisition María del Pilar García Mayo, María Junkal Gutierrez Mangado, Maria Martinez Adrian, 2013 Second language acquisition SLA is a field of inquiry that has increased in importance since the 1960s Currently researchers adopt multiple perspectives in the analysis of learner language all of them providing different but complementary answers to the understanding of oral and written data produced by young and older learners in different settings The main goal of this volume is to provide the reader with updated reviews of the major contemporary approaches to SLA the research carried out within them and wherever appropriate the implications and or applications for theory research and pedagogy that might derive from the available empirical evidence The book is intended for SLA researchers as well as for graduate MA Ph D students in SLA research applied linguistics and linguistics as the different chapters will be a guide in their research within the approaches presented The volume will also be of interest to professionals from other fields interested in the SLA process and the different explanations that have been put forward to account for it

Comparative Perspectives on Language Acquisition Marzena Watorek, Sandra Benazzo, Maya Hickmann, 2012-01-09 This volume aims to provide a broad view of second language acquisition within a comparative perspective that addresses results concerning adult and child learners across a variety of source and target languages It brings together contributions at the forefront of language acquisition research that consider a wide range of open questions What are the precise mechanisms underlying acquisition How can we characterize learners initial state and predict their degree of final achievement What role do specific typological properties of source and target languages play How does fossilization occur How does the relative complexity of cognitive systems in adult and child learners affect acquisition Does language learning influence cognitive organization Can language learning shed light on our general understanding of human language and language processing

Adverbial Relations in Turkish-German Bilingualism Seda Yilmaz Wörfel, 2022 The Turkish language in diaspora is in process of change due to different language constellations of immigrants and the dominance of majority languages This led to a great interest in various research areas particularly in linguistics Against this background this study focuses on developmental change in the use of adverbial clause combining constructions in Turkish German bilingual students oral and written text production It illustrates the use of non finite constructions and some unique alternative strategies to express adverbial relations with authentic examples in Turkish and German The findings contribute to a better understanding of how bilingual competencies vary in expressing adverbial relations depending on language contact and extra linguistic factors Dr Seda Yilmaz Wörfel completed a Ph D in German linguistics at the University of Potsdam Germany She works as a research associate at the Mercator Institute for Literacy and Language Education at the University of Cologne Her research interests are Turkish German Bilingualism Second Language Acquisition Multiliteracy and Language Contact

Pragmatic Markers in Oral Narrative Montserrat González,2004 This book presents the multifunctional nature of pragmatic discourse markers in English and Catalan oral narratives from the point of view of text linguistics and contrastive analysis It is argued that English and Catalan markers are distributed and operate differently at four different levels in the varied discourse structures of the text i e at the ideational the rhetorical the sequential and the inferential levels The results confirm the distinctions in functional systemic levels and indicate that the nature of the two languages has a direct influence on the presence and nature of markers in the texts The study is built up on a corpus of English and Catalan elicited narratives of native speakers adopting the sociolinguistic Labovian framework adapted to the situation of educated adults The study results in a better understanding of the contribution of pragmatic markers to the organization and the interpretation of oral texts bringing insights from relevance and cognitive approaches to text structure and moving from descriptive to theoretical levels of analysis and discussion

Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts ,2002 Relating Events in Narrative Ruth A. Berman,Dan Isaac Slobin,2013-06-17 This volume represents the culmination of an extensive research project that studied the development of linguistic form function relations in narrative discourse It is unique in the extent of data which it analyzes more than 250 texts from children and adults speaking five different languages and in its crosslinguistic typological focus It is the first book to address the issue of how the structural properties and rhetorical preferences of different native languages English German Spanish Hebrew and Turkish impinge on narrative abilities across different phases of development The work of Berman and Slobin and their colleagues provides insight into the interplay between shared possibly universal patterns in the developing ability to create well constructed globally organized narratives among preschoolers from three years of age compared with school children and adults contrasted against the impact of typological and rhetorical features of particular native languages on how speakers express these abilities in the process of relating events in narrative This volume also makes a special contribution to the field of language acquisition and development by providing detailed analyses of how linguistic forms come to be used in the service of narrative functions such as the expression of temporal relations of simultaneity and retrospection perspective taking on events and textual connectivity To present this information the authors prepared in depth analyses of a wide range of linguistic systems including tense aspect marking passive and middle voice locative and directional predications connectivity markers null subjects and relative clause constructions In contrast to most work in the field of language acquisition this book focuses on developments in the use of these early forms in extended discourse beyond the initial phase of early language development The book offers a pioneering approach to the interactions between form and function in the development and use of language from a typological linguistic perspective The study is based on a large crosslinguistic corpus of narratives elicited from preschool school age and adult subjects All of the narratives were elicited by the same picture storybook Frog Where Are You by Mercer Mayer An appendix lists related studies using the same storybook in 50 languages The findings illuminate both universal and language specific patterns of development providing new insights into questions of language and thought Studying Speaking to Inform Second Language Learning Diana Boxer,Andrew D. Cohen,2004-01-01 In a series of studies specially written for this volume Studying Speaking to Inform Second Language Learning offers the applied linguist research on spoken interaction in second and foreign languages and provides insights as to how findings from each of these studies may inform language pedagogy The volume offers an interweaving of discourse perspectives speech acts speech events interactional analysis pragmatics and conversational analysis Key Notions for Pragmatics Jef Verschueren,Jan-Ola Östman,2009-06-25 The ten volumes of Handbook of Pragmatics Highlights focus on the most salient topics in the field of pragmatics thus dividing its wide interdisciplinary spectrum in a transparent and manageable way While the other volumes select specific philosophical cognitive grammatical social cultural variational interactional or discursive angles this first volume reviews basic notions that pervade the pragmatic literature such as deixis implicitness speech acts context and the like It situates the field of pragmatics broadly defined as the cognitive social and cultural science of language use in relation to a general concept of communication and the discipline of semiotics It also touches upon the non verbal aspects of language use and even ventures a comparison with non human forms of communication The introductory chapter moreover explains why a highly diversified field of scholarship such as pragmatics can be regarded as a potentially coherent enterprise Here and There Jürgen Weissenborn, Wolfgang Klein, 1982-01-01

Deixis the rooting of utterances in the speech situation is one of the most salient universals of natural language The ways in which different languages link utterances to pragmatic factors such as speech time speech place and speech participants show a rich variation This makes deixis a particular fruitful domain for the study of universals language comparison and the relationship between language and reality This volume presents and discusses deictic systems of both Indo European and non Indo European languages including Russian Czech Spanish German standard and dialect Hungarian Chinese Japanese Hausa Swahili Hopi Eipo Tolai Diyari Focus is on spatial deixis but other deictic and demonstrative expressions are treated as well Pindar's Verbal Art James Bradley Wells, 2009 Wells argues that the victory song is a traditional art form that appealed to a popular audience and served exclusive elite interests through the inclusive appeal of entertainment popular instruction and laughter Wells offers a new take on old Pindaric questions genre unity of the victory song tradition and epic performance Writing Development in Children with Hearing Loss, Dyslexia, Or Oral Language Problems Barbara Arfé, 2014 Difficulties with writing are considered one of the most common learning problems in school children This volume focuses on the causes and nature of writing problems in children with hearing loss oral language problems and dyslexia Its goal is to provide current understandings to help guide and support writing assessment and intervention

Spontaneous Spoken Language Jim Miller, Regina Weinert, 1998-03-26 Jim Miller and Regina Weinert investigate syntactic structure and the organization of discourse in spontaneous spoken language Using data from English German and Russian they develop a systematic analysis of spoken English and highlight properties that hold across languages The authors argue that the differences in syntax and the construction of discourse between spontaneous speech and written language bear on various areas of linguistic theory apart from having obvious implications for syntactic analysis In particular they bear on typology Chomskyan theories of first language acquisition and the perennial problem of language in education In current typological practice written and spontaneous spoken texts are often compared the authors show convincingly that typological research should compare like with like The consequences for Chomskyan and indeed all theories of first language acquisition flow from the central fact that children acquire spoken language but learn written language Corpora: Pragmatics and Discourse , 2015-06-29 This volume presents current state of the art discussions in corpus based linguistic research of the English language The papers deal with Present day English worldwide varieties of English and the history of the English language A special focus of the volume are studies in the broad field of corpus pragmatics and corpus based discourse analysis It includes corpus based studies of speech acts conversational routines referential expressions and thought styles as well as studies on the lexis grammar and semantics of English And it also includes several studies on technical aspects of corpus compilation fieldwork and parsing Concise Encyclopedia of Pragmatics J.L.
