NGOs media freedom activists and journalists A Companion to Television Janet Wasko, 2009-12-21 A Companion to Television is a magisterial collection of 31 original essays that charter the field of television studies over the past century. Explores a diverse range of topics and theories that have led to television's current incarnation and predict its likely future. Covers technology and aesthetics, television's relationship to the state, televisual commerce, texts, representation, genre, internationalism and audience reception and effects. Essays are by an international group of first-rate scholars. For information, news and content from Blackwell's reference publishing program, please visit www.blackwellpublishing.com.

reference South Africa and the International Media, 1972-1979 James Sanders, 2012-10-12 This book studies the Anglo-American media's representation of South Africa in the 1970s; the international media is shown to have been under continuous pressure from both the South African Dept of Information and the anti-apartheid movement.

Putting Popular Music in Its Place Charles Hamm, 1995-04-27 Essays on the context of popular music and its interrelationships with politics and ideology.

Media Studies: Media history, media and society Pieter Jacobus Fourie, 2007 While examining exactly who owns the media and who produces the media, this text manages to encompass the systematic critical and analytical media in all its forms and concludes that the media is one of the most important generators and disseminators of meaning in contemporary society. Investigating the power relationships between the media and politics, culture, economy, society and above all democracy, this resource is well suited for anyone with an interest in the modern role of media in society.

Good Over Evil Meche Okwesili, 2004 Good Over Evil is a masterpiece of reality of life story revealing unforgettable human agonies in the colonial racist enslavement in Southern Africa. It highlights racism in action and projects the atrocities of apartheid with vivid accounts of the plights of Africans as meted out by the oppressive system. It is the epitome of man's inhumanity to man and a crime against humanity in the cloak of religion. The outcome of years of research, it is a novel of impelling readability and a sweeping evocation of the South. Immensely powerful in depth and compelling and most of all a memorable history. Being of personal interest to research and analysing the consequences of colonial and racial prejudices imbibed by the imperial racists in Africa, this book forms the first part of a two-part series of the atrocities of Apartheid in Africa. The second part is centered on the frontline states, the destabilization tactics of the racist state and Africa's revolution against the oppressive system. It is a work on its own perspective.

Parks and People in Postcolonial Societies M. Ramutsindela, 2006-01-14 Against the background of colonial and postcolonial experiences, this volume shows that power relations and stereotypes embedded in the original Western idea of a national park are a continuing reality of contemporary national and transnational parks. The volume seeks to dispel the myth that colonial beliefs and practices in protected areas have ended with the introduction of new nature conservation policies and practices. It explores this continuity against the backdrop of the development of the national park idea in the West and its trajectories in colonial and postcolonial societies, particularly southern Africa. This volume analyses the dynamic relations between people and national parks and assesses these in southern Africa against broader experiences in postcolonial societies It draws examples from a broad range of situations and places It reinserts issues of prejudices into contemporary national park systems and accounts for continuities and interruptions in national parks ideals in different contexts Its interpretation of material transcends the North South divide This volume is accessible to readers from different academic backgrounds It is of special interest to academics policymakers and Non Governmental Organisations This book can also be used as prescribed or reference material in courses taught at university

The Quest for Constitutionalism Hugh Corder, Veronica Federico, 2016-02-24 This volume provides a timely assessment on the progress made towards the achievement of a constitutional democracy in South Africa The chapters collectively present an in depth analysis of the development of the legal system and of the implications of the Constitution for the social configuration of power To what extent has the vision of constitutionalism contained in the Constitution been realised Primarily concerned with the impact of laws and the salience of their existence and enforcement for South Africans the work highlights the importance of placing the constitutional regime in its historical cultural social economic and political context The book further recognises the importance of the South African constitutional provisions for transnational or globalised constitutionalism more broadly It contains contributions from South African scholars as well as European authors bringing in new analytical angles and adding a specific comparative dimension Through the prism of South Africa the authors discuss the innovative character of constitutional and legal provisions in terms of both constitution making and law making processes and their contents This book provides analysis that will be relevant to scholars students and practitioners specifically those interested in International Relations Law Sociology of Law and African Studies as well as socio political comparative studies

Language and Politics in Africa John Obiero Ogone, Daniel Ochieng Orwenjo, 2020-05-15 Language and Politics in Africa is a fine collection of both empirically and theoretically based articles from across the African continent and beyond but all focusing on the twin issues of Language and Politics in post colonial African countries The authors offer critical perspectives on contemporary theoretical empirical and policy issues related to language and how such issues manifest themselves at the inevitable interface with politics in a number of African countries Coming at a time when most African countries are still grappling with language policy and planning issues while others are increasingly having to contend with the political outcomes of linguistically and ethnically heterogeneous nation states the present volume is a must read for scholars and students who are interested on the twin issues of language and politics since it represents one of the first attempts at documenting how language and politics affect each other in a number of African countries The volume is divided into two sections dealing with the politics of language and the language of politics in African countries

Media in South Africa After Apartheid Anthony A. Olorunnisola, 2006 A collection of essays that provides an evaluation of the transition experience of media and correlate institutions in the decade following the introduction of a multiracial democracy in South Africa The contributors from inside and outside South Africa assess the transition experience
