

Interview Paper Structure

Introductory Section.

Write a catchy hook, reference, or quote that makes the reader want to explore further. Describe the essence of your story and familiarize the audience with the elaborated core values.

Thesis Statement.

Craft a sentence or two unveiling the focus of your interview paper. This part should be concise and highlight the purpose of the manuscript. It must also provide a proper link to the first body paragraph.

Body Section.

The longest part of the paper may contain several subheadings divided into paragraphs. Use them to present the outcomes of the experience. If you interviewed several subjects, dedicate a different segment to each by analyzing reasons and conclusions.

Summary.

End with a concluding section that wraps up the interviewee's most valid opinions. You might also depict your standpoints (which can contradict the speaker's attitude) arising from the provided responses.

Stimulus, Intention and Process in Creative Writing Graeme Harper, 2024-02-01 Stimulus Intention and Process in Creative Writing explores three exciting and key areas of creative writing practice and understanding What stimulates a writer to write or to write a particular piece What do they intend to achieve when they do it And is there a process we can study and perhaps even understand The authors in this book who are both practitioners and researchers explore these three areas in unique and thought provoking ways They bring to the discussion both expertise in relation to what we already know and a sense of forward thinking in discussing how we can find out more This is a book for creative writing researchers and students who are seeking new knowledge about how creative writing is done what informs and encourages those doing it and what results from that knowledge and encouragement It is also potentially a book for creative writing practitioners who wonder how the things that interest them have them writing certain things and the ways they go about approaching undertaking and completing these projects The chapters in this book were originally published in New Writing The International Journal for the Practice and Theory of Creative Writing EFL Writing Teacher Education and Professional Development Estela Ene,Betsy Gilliland,Sarah Henderson Lee,Tanita Saenkhum,Lisya Seloni,2024-04-16 This book explores how EFL writing teacher education is theoretically pedagogically methodologically and sociopolitically shaped given teachers unique local contexts and circumstances It showcases practitioners and researchers teaching in or studying geographic areas that have as yet been under represented in international publications and it focuses on ways that specific contexts create unique opportunities and constraints on what developing teachers know and do in their work The chapters prioritize local voices and materials to build a more inclusive and comprehensive picture of L2 writing globally enabling the book as a whole to both document and further shape pedagogical approaches to L2 writing Readers will be able to use the unique insights contained in this book in their own classrooms and professional development activities The Writer ,1895
