

How we think of washing our hands

by 🍌 anonymous2020

Washing our hands. It's a simple and important way of keeping ourselves healthy and others around healthy. You might be surprised of the number of people who don't even bother to wash their hands before eating, after the toilet or after when touching public door handles. People just don't understand how important it is to wash our hands every day.

How does it effect us?

If everyone in the world washed their hands, we wouldn't have many hygiene issues and the majority of people don't get sick. Doctors always need to wash their hands before treating sick patients. By doing this, we would prevent sick people getting infections and making them feel more sick. But that isn't the case in reality. Lots of people don't wash their hands in obvious scenarios, like going out to eat or after they've been in the toilet. Relatives who are coming to see sick loved ones often don't remember to wash their hands and come in contact with the sick person and they pass on their germs to the loved one.

What we can do

We can all make an effort to prevent lots of daily infections by washing our hands. For young kids who are just starting to understand the world, we can teach them to wash their hands as a habit. It will help them and everyone around. It is very easy and effortless to wash your hands. Simply wash your hands with soap and water for 20 seconds and then dry your hands by a blow dryer or a paper towel. Keep doing this all the time and you can see a little change in your family or roommates.. They won't get sick as often, your food is clean of germs for eating and you make yourself feel better because you know you've done something that makes the world better for everyone.

So in summary, washing our hands is an important thing to do. It would help sick people, it would benefit people and overall make the world more healthier for everyone. All we have to do is wash our hands every so often and not touch sick people if you haven't washed your hands and encourage other people to give it a try and see how much they benefit.
