Sorrow Anton Chekhov:

Sorrow Anton Pavlovich Chekhov, 2024-08-28 Experience the deep emotional resonance of Anton Pavlovich Chekhov's Sorrow. This poignant short story explores themes of grief, loss, and the enduring human spirit through the life of its central character. Chekhov's narrative is a powerful examination of how personal sorrow can shape and transform one's perspective on life. Chekhov, a master of psychological depth and emotional nuance, presents a story that captures the raw and often unspoken dimensions of human suffering. His portrayal of the protagonist's inner turmoil offers a profound reflection on the nature of sorrow and resilience. Sorrow is a moving read for those who appreciate Chekhov's ability to convey the complexities of human emotions with sensitivity and insight. Perfect for readers who seek a deep and empathetic exploration of personal grief and healing.

Sorrow: Anton Chekhov, As part of ClassicReader.com, Stephane Theroux presents the full text of the short story entitled Sorrow. The short story was written by Russian playwright and writer Anton Pavlovich Chekhov, 1860-1904.

Reminiscences of Anton Chekhov Maxim Gorky, 2021-03-27 Excerpt: I think that in Anton Chekhov's presence every one involuntarily felt in himself a desire to be simpler, more truthful, more one's self. I often saw how people cast off the motley finery of bookish phrases, smart words, and all the other cheap tricks.

The Collected Works of Anton Chekhov Anton Chekhov, 2023-12-05 The Collected Works of Anton Chekhov is a comprehensive anthology that encapsulates the literary genius of one of Russia's preeminent playwrights and short story writers. Spanning a variety of genres, this collection showcases Chekhov's trademark blend of realism and subtle psychological insight, reflecting the complexities of human nature and society at the turn of the 20th century. The selected works are marked by Chekhov's nuanced characterizations, unexpected outcomes, and a profound empathy for the human condition, illustrated through masterful storytelling that speaks to both the mundane and the extraordinary in everyday life. Chekhov's background as a trained physician profoundly influenced his writing, allowing him to approach the human experience with exceptional empathy and observation. Born in 1860, he lived during a period of significant social change in Russia, which added layers of depth and urgency to his works. His ability to convey the essence of life with such brevity and clarity stems from a lifetime of understanding the emotional intricacies and social contexts of his characters, often reflecting his own struggles as an artist striving for authenticity and connection. This collection is essential for readers seeking a deeper understanding of Chekhov's unique contributions to literature and the theater. Through its wide-ranging scope, The Collected Works invites both new and seasoned readers to immerse themselves in the multifaceted world of Chekhov's imagination, making it a cornerstone for anyone interested in the development of modern storytelling.

Reminiscences of Anton Chekhov I. A. Bunin, Maksim Gorky, Aleksandr Ivanovich Kuprin, 1921 Once he invited me to the village Koutchouk Koy where he had a tiny strip of land and a white two storied house. There while showing me his estate he began to speak with animation. If I had plenty of money I should build a sanatorium here for invalid village teachers. You know I would put up a large bright building very bright with large windows and lofty rooms I would have a fine library different musical instruments bees a vegetable garden an orchard There would be lectures on agriculture mythology Teachers ought to know everything everything my dear fellow He was suddenly silent coughed looked at me out of the corners of his eyes and smiled that tender charming smile of his which attracted one so irresistibly to him and made one listen so attentively to his words Does it bore you to listen to my fantasies I do love to talk of it If you knew how badly the Russian village needs a nice sensible educated teacher We ought in Russia to give the teacher particularly good conditions and it ought to be done as quickly as possible We ought to realize that without a wide education of the people Russia will collapse like a house built of badly baked bricks A teacher must be an artist in love with his calling but with us he is a journeyman ill educated who goes to the village to teach children as though he were going into exile He is starved crushed terrorized by the fear of losing his daily bread But he ought to be the first man in the village the peasants ought to recognize him as a power worthy of attention and respect no one should dare to shout at him or humiliate him personally as with us every one does the village constable the rich shop keeper the priest the rural police commissioner the school guardian the councilor and that official who has the title of school inspector but who cares nothing for the improvement of education and only sees that the circulars of his chiefs are carried out It is ridiculous to pay in farthings the man who has to educate the people It is intolerable that he should walk in rags shiver with cold in damp and draughty schools catch cold and about the age of thirty get laryngitis rheumatism or tuberculosis We ought to be ashamed of it Our teacher for eight or nine months in the year lives like a hermit he has no one to speak a word to without company books or amusements he is growing stupid and if he invites his colleagues to visit him then he becomes politically suspect a stupid word with which crafty men frighten fools All this is disgusting it is the mockery of a man who is doing a great and tremendously important work Do you know whenever I see a teacher I feel ashamed for him for his timidity and because he is badly dressed it seems to me that for the teacher s wretchedness I am myself to blame I mean it He was silent thinking and then waving his hand he said gently This Russia of ours is such an absurd clumsy country A shadow of sadness crossed his beautiful eyes little rays of wrinkles surrounded them and made them look still more meditative Then looking round he said jestingly You see I have fired off at you a complete leading article from a radical paper Come I ll give you tea to reward your patience That was characteristic of him to speak so earnestly with such warmth and sincerity and then suddenly to laugh at himself and his speech In that sad and gentle smile one felt the subtle skepticism of the man who knows the value of words and dreams and there also flashed in the smile a lovable modesty and delicate sensitiveness We walked back slowly in silence to the house It was a clear hot day the waves sparkled under the bright rays of the sun down below one heard a dog barking joyfully Chekhov took my arm coughed and said slowly It is shameful and sad but true there are many men who envy the dogs And he added immediately with a laugh To day I can only make feeble speeches It means that I m getting old I often heard him say You know a teacher has just come here he s ill married couldn t you do something for him I have made arrangements for him for the time being Or again Listen Gorky there is a teacher here who would like to meet you He can t go out he s ill Won t you come and see him Do Or Look here the women teachers want books to be sent to them Sometimes I would find that teacher at his house usually he would be sitting on the edge of his chair blushing at the consciousness of his own awkwardness in the sweat of his brow picking and choosing his words trying to speak smoothly and educatedly or with the ease of manner of a person who is morbidly shy he would concentrate himself upon the effort not to appear stupid in the eyes of an author and he would simply belabor Anton Chekhov with a hail of questions which had never entered his head until that moment
