Botha, Smuts and the Great War Antonio Garcia, Ian van der Waag, 2023-10-30 In Botha, Smuts and the Great War 1914-1918 authors Antonio Garcia and Ian Van Der Waag conducted painstaking research in South Africa and the United Kingdom to produce this first of a kind volume on the wartime roles of South African prime minister General Louis Botha and his deputy General Jan Smuts These very different men appealed to different audiences Botha's nuance and emotional intelligence complemented Smuts's intellectualism Thrown into a world conflagration in August 1914 and facing internal rebellion and the threat posed by German troops on the borders they led South Africa's Union Defence Force Both Botha and Smuts commanded in the field Steadily the South African army they commanded benefiting from wartime training sometimes in the field gained resilience experience and battle hardiness adapting to the conditions of the campaigns and the demands of the tasks South Africa's campaigns were complex and divergent starting with the invasion of neighbouring German South West Africa to neutralise enemy radio stations and so aid the security of the South Atlantic Suddenly suspended following the outbreak of the Afrikaner Rebellion the campaign recommenced in January 1915 Following its conclusion an infantry brigade raised for Western Front service was diverted to Egypt before facing near annihilation at Delville Wood Simultaneously a large South African force fighting alongside British African and Indian forces overcame German resistance in East Africa whilst a brigade of field artillery and later the Cape Corps served in Egypt and Palestine Moreover approximately 6 500 South Africans served in the British Army Royal Flying Corps Royal Air Force and in the Royal Navy Although lionised during the war by a British public hungry for heroes there is a different side to Botha and Smuts Shunned by Afrikaner nationalists at the time they have remained divisive figures Responsible for the enactment of the Land Act of 1913 which shaped South Africa's socio-economic and political landscape

Botha's statues in Cape Town, Durban and Pretoria were vandalised on a number of occasions between 2015 and 2022 and there were recent calls for Smuts's statues to be removed. Behind Botha's charming attractive façade and Smuts's stoic machine were two very human imperfect and quite probably inconsiderate men. Together they provide a wonderful lens through which to examine the potent forces of the early twentieth century world and the country they hoped to forge. Myopic compatriots had constrained their plans but it was the outbreak of war in 1914 that offered the most significant opportunities and brought the most adverse challenges. They fought insurmountable odds and achieved great victories at home and abroad but also made startling errors and ultimately in classical fashion risked being crushed by the weight of the world they tried to create.

Military Assistance on Request and the Use of Force Erika De Wet, 2020-03-26 In countries such as Syria, Iraq, South Sudan and Yemen, internationally recognized governments embroiled in protracted armed conflicts and with very little control over their territory have requested direct military assistance from other states. These requests are often accepted by the other states despite the circumvention of the United Nations Security Council and extensive violation of international humanitarian law and human rights. In this book, Erika De Wet examines the authority entitled to extend a request for or consent to direct military assistance as well as the type of situations during which such assistance may be requested, notably whether it may be requested during a civil war. Ultimately, De Wet addresses the question of if and to what extent the proliferation of military assistance on the request of a recognized government is changing the rules in international law applying to the use of force.

Security Cooperation between Western States Olivier Lewis, 2022-08-22 This book examines security cooperation between Western states. Security cooperation occurs between Western, i.e. European and North American states, as a coping mechanism, as an imperfect substitute for integration. The book investigates the reasons for cooperation, what Aristotle called the final cause, as well as the material, formal and efficient causes of cooperation. Such a causal explanation is based on a Critical Realist philosophy of social science. The book is also based on an embedded multiple case study; the states studied are the United States, France and Luxembourg. Within each state, the embedded subcases are three types of state security organizations: the armed forces, law enforcement and intelligence agencies, which have rarely been compared in this way. Comparing different types of states and different types of state security organizations has allowed temporal, spatial, national and functional variation in cooperation to be identified and theorized. The empirical evidence studied includes participant observations at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and documents such as state policy documents, annual reports by organizations, reports by parliaments and non-governmental organizations, autobiographies, books by investigative journalists and articles by newspapers and magazines. The book is also based on a score of elite interviews with ambassadors, diplomatic liaisons, ministerial advisors, foreign ministry officials and military commanders. This book will be of much interest to students of security studies, intelligence studies, military studies and International Relations in general.

Nuclear Latency and The Participation Puzzle:

Constructing of the International Non-Proliferation Regime Leonardo Bandarra, 2024-10-31 Scholars and practitioners usually regard the nuclear non proliferation regime as composed of two categories of countries those with and those without nuclear weapons The latter are regarded as the core designers of that regime while the former have their prominence in shaping non proliferation institutions eclipsed or ignored This book proposes to go beyond that duality by focusing on a usually neglected group of states latent nuclear countries Those are the countries that possess advanced nuclear capabilities but no weapons This book shows that latent nuclear countries not only participate actively in non proliferation institutions but also promote the creation of new frameworks highlighting concerns and perspectives different from their nuclear weapon and nuclear free counterparts The author makes this argument through an intricate combination of quantitative and qualitative methods with an in depth analysis of Brazil and Germany as sources for case studies He makes the case to understand the nuclear non proliferation regime as an inclusive and refined approach that takes into consideration countries nuclear capabilities identities role conceptions and domestic structures

Ruling Nature, Controlling People Luregn Lenggenhager, 2018 Recent nature conservation initiatives in Southern Africa such as communal conservancies and peace parks are often embedded in narratives of economic development and ecological research They are also increasingly marked by militarisation and violence In Ruling Nature Controlling People Luregn Lenggenhager shows that these features were also characteristic of South African rule over the Caprivi Strip region in North Eastern Namibia especially in the fields of forestry fisheries and ultimately wildlife conservation In the process the increasingly internationalised war in the region from the late 1960s until Namibia's independence in 1990 became intricately interlinked with contemporary nature conservation ecology and economic development projects By retracing such interdependencies Lenggenhager provides a novel perspective from which to examine the history of a region which has until now barely entered the focus of historical research He thereby highlights the enduring relevance of the supposedly peripheral Caprivi and its military scientific and environmental histories for efforts to develop a deeper understanding of the ways in which apartheid South Africa exerted state power

The Coalitions Presidents Make Marcus Mietzner, 2023-12-15 In The Coalitions Presidents Make Marcus Mietzner explains how Indonesia has turned its volatile post authoritarian presidential system into one of the world's most stable He argues that since 2004 Indonesian presidents have deployed nuanced strategies of coalition building to consolidate their authority and these coalitions are responsible for the regime stability in place today In building coalitions Indonesian presidents have looked beyond parties and parliament the traditional partners of presidents in most other countries In Indonesia actors such as the military the police the bureaucracy local governments oligarchs and Muslim groups are integrated into presidential coalitions by giving them the same status as parties and parliament But while this inclusiveness has made Indonesia's presidential system extraordinarily durable it has also caused democratic decline In order to secure the stability of their coalitions presidents must observe the vested interests of each member when making policy decisions The Coalitions Presidents Make details the process through which presidents balance their own powers and interests with those of their partners encouraging patronage oriented collaboration and disincentivizing confrontation
