Lesson Study in Mathematics Rongjin Huang,Akihiko Takahashi,João Pedro da Ponte,2019-05-28 This book brings together and builds on the current research efforts on adaptation conceptualization and theorization of Lesson Study LS It synthesizes and illustrates major perspectives for theorizing LS and enriches the conceptualization of LS by interpreting the activity as it is used in Japan and China from historical and cultural perspectives Presenting the practices and theories of LS with practicing teachers and prospective teachers in more than 10 countries it enables the reader to take a comparative perspective Finally the book presents and discusses studies on key aspects of LS such as lesson planning post lesson discussion guiding theories connection between research and practice and upscaling Lesson Study which has originated in Asia as a powerful effective professional development model has spread globally Although the positive effects of lesson study on teacher learning student learning and curriculum reforms have been widely documented conceptualization of and research on LS have just begun to emerge This book including 38 chapters contributed by 90 scholars from 21 countries presents a truly international collaboration on research on and adaptation of LS and significantly advances the development of knowledge about this process Chapter 15 How Variance and Invariance Can Inform Teachers Enactment of Mathematics Lessons of this book is available open access under a CC BY 4.0 license at link.springer.com Theory and Practice of Lesson Study in Mathematics An International Perspective shows that the power of Lesson Study to transform the role of teachers in classroom research cannot be explained by a simple replication model Here we see Lesson Study being successful internationally when its key principles and practices are taken seriously and are adapted to meet local issues and challenges Max Stephens Senior research fellow at The University of Melbourne It works Instruction improves learning improves Wide scale Enduring Deep impact Lesson study has it When something works as well as lesson study does while alternative systems for improving instruction fail or only succeed on small scale or evaporate as quickly as they show promise it is time to understand how and why lesson study works This volume brings the research on lesson study together from around the world Here is what we already know and here is the way forward for research and practice informed by research It is time to wake up and pay attention to what has worked so well on wide scale for so long Phil Dara A leading author of the Common Core State Standards of Mathematics in the U.S.

Making Education Inclusive Sharon Moonsamy, Elizabeth Walton, 2015-09-18 Exclusionary pressures and practices are pervasive in education despite the clamour for more inclusive education Even as classrooms worldwide become more diverse education is unlikely to become inclusive without deliberate efforts to dismantle exclusion and enable inclusion This book is a compilation of contributions to the conversation about what these efforts might entail The conversation has its origins in the Making Education Inclusive Conference held in 2013 which brought together academics and practitioners from Southern Africa and other countries Given the expectation that teachers should play a key role in promoting inclusion it is not surprising to find significant interest in teacher education from many of the contributing authors Their concerns range from explicit teacher development for pedagogical responsiveness to learner diversity to overcoming the epistemological marginalisation that learners experience where teachers are not fully confident of their subject content and how to teach it Access to education is clearly not enough and other contributors to this book concern themselves with ways in which structures and systems could be reconstituted to enable meaningful inclusion This might mean looking at how teachers might use tiered systems of behaviour support and various metacognitive strategies how physical access can be promoted on a university campus and understanding how parents think about disability Each chapter represents a different perspective on what it might mean to resist educational exclusion in its many forms and each offers possible ways to make education more inclusive Education for All Global Monitoring Report 2008 United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO),2007-11-29 Working towards the 2015 millennium development goals this global report marks the midterm point and provides a rich evidence based assessment of the provision of education on a global scale Based on specialized commissions extensive consultations and multiple research sources the report provides an authoritative comparative reference Psychological Assessment in South Africa Sumaya Laher,Kate Cockcroft,2013-01-01 This book provides an overview of the research related to psychological assessment across South Africa The thirty six chapters provide a combination of psychometric theory and practical assessment applications in order to combine the currently disparate research that has been conducted locally in this field Existing South African texts on psychological assessment are predominantly academic textbooks that explain psychometric theory and provide brief descriptions of a few testing instruments Psychological Assessment in South Africa provides in depth coverage of a range of areas within the broad field of psychological assessment including research conducted with various psychological instruments The chapters critically interrogate the current Eurocentric and Western cultural hegemonic practices that dominate the field of psychological assessment The book therefore has the potential to function both as an academic text for graduate students as well as a specialist resource for professionals including psychologists psychometrists remedial teachers and human resource practitioners Research in Education ,1973 Self-directed Learning Oriented Assessments in the Asia-Pacific Magdalena Mo Ching Mok,2012-10-09 The Asia Pacific region needs to maximize the benefits of education to enable it to compete in an economic future dominated by innovation in which assessing student progress must be an empowering rather than delimiting factor This detailed exposition of the theoretical basis and application tools of self directed learning oriented assessment SLOA reflects the very latest research championed by the Assessment Research Centre at The Hong Kong Institute of Education Featuring a range of relevant case studies it explores the varied theoretical issues related to SLOA and offers an integrated view of the system fully in line with the constructivist paradigm of learning which advocates formative rather than summative assessment Many of the initiatives outlined here are firsts in the region SLOA is already being applied in many schools with links to the ARC It is an approach to assessment that acknowledges the centrality of self directed learning and which positions assessment as a tool to enable and enhance self directed learning It draws on several theories of learning and assessment including the constructivist notion that learning is best achieved when students take ownership of their educational process setting their own goals and monitoring their own progress towards those goals SLOA has been the research and service approach of the ARC since 2005 In the intervening years the centre has developed a number of tools to facilitate SLOA learning and assessment including vertical ability scales teacher friendly computer software and packages for self directed learning The Education Triple Cocktail Brahm Fleisch,2018-08-15 The Education Triple Cocktail brings together rigorous quantitative and qualitative research on a new approach to improving foundational teaching and learning for schoolchildren living in working class poor and remote rural communities in resource constrained systems like South Africa At the core of this book is the theory and evidence for a powerful new interlocking and mutually reinforcing change model Inspired by the AIDS treatment story the three pronged approach of structured daily lesson plans appropriate and high quality educational materials and one on one instructional coaching to help teachers transform their instructional practices in early grade classrooms shows that it will improve learning outcomes For education systems defined by low levels of early grade learning and profoundly unequal outcomes The Education Triple Cocktail offers a theoretically informed evidence based way forward This book will be of immense use to teachers students of Education policymakers and parents A Current Bibliography on African Affairs ,2003 Kenya Gazette ,1967-06-30 The Kenya Gazette is an official publication of the government of the Republic of Kenya It contains notices of new legislation notices required to be published by law or policy as well as other announcements that are published for general public information It is published every week usually on Friday with occasional releases of special or supplementary editions within the week
