

Set up a Client with WPA-Personal (TKIP) or WPA2-Personal (TKIP) Security Settings

WPA Personal Mode requires manual configuration of a pre-shared key (PSK) on the access point and clients. This PSK authenticates users a password or identifying code, on both the client station and the access point. An authentication server is not needed. WPA Personal Mode is targeted to home and small business environments.

WPA2 is the second generation of WPA security that provides enterprise and consumer wireless users with a high level of assurance that only authorized users can access their wireless networks. WPA2 provides a stronger encryption mechanism through Advanced Encryption Standard (AES), which is a requirement for some corporate and government users.

To configure a profile with WPA-Personal network authentication and TKIP data encryption:

1. On the Intel PROSet/Wireless main window, double-click an Infrastructure network in the Wireless Networks list or select the network and click Connect.

NOTE: Infrastructure networks are identified with an access point image () in the Wireless Networks and Profiles list.

2. Click Profiles to access the Profiles list.
3. Click Properties to open the Wireless Profile Properties' General Settings. The Profile name and Wireless Network Name (SSID) display. Network (Infrastructure) should be selected as the Operating Mode.
4. Click Next to access the Security Settings.
5. Security Settings: Select WPA-Personal (TKIP) to provide security to a small business network or home environment. A password, called a pre-shared key (PSK), is used. The longer the password, the stronger the security of the wireless network.

If your wireless access point or router supports WPA2-Personal then you should enable it on the access point and provide a long, strong password. The longer the password, the stronger the security of the wireless network. The same password entered in the access point needs to be used on this computer and all other wireless devices that access the wireless network.

NOTE: WPA-Personal and WPA2-Personal are not interoperable.

6. Wireless Security Password (Encryption Key): Enter a text phrase with eight to 63 characters. Verify that the network key matches the password in the wireless access point.
7. Click OK to return to the Profiles list.

Set up a Client with WPA-Personal (AES-CCMP) or WPA2-Personal (AES-CCMP) Security Settings

Wi-Fi Protected Access (WPA) is a security enhancement that strongly increases the level of data protection and access control to a wireless network. WPA enforces 802.1x authentication and key-exchange and only works with dynamic encryption keys. For a home user or small business, WPA-Personal utilizes either Advanced Encryption Standard - Counter CBC-MAC Protocol (AES-CCMP) or Temporal Key Integrity Protocol (TKIP).

To configure a profile with WPA2-Personal network authentication and AES-CCMP data encryption:

1. On the Profile page, select a profile.
2. Click Properties to open the Wireless Profile Properties' General Settings. The Profile name and Wireless Network Name (SSID) display. Network (Infrastructure) should be selected as the Operating Mode.
3. Click Next. The Security Settings page opens.

Guide to Wireless Network Security John R. Vacca, 2006-10-16 1 INTRODUCTION With the increasing deployment of wireless networks 802.11 architecture in enterprise environments IT enterprises are working to implement security mechanisms that are equivalent to those existing today for wire based networks An important aspect of this is the need to provide secure access to the network for valid users Existing wired network jacks are located inside buildings already secured from unauthorized access through the use of keys badge access and so forth A user must gain physical access to the building in order to plug a client computer into a network jack In contrast a wireless access point AP may be accessed from off the premises if the signal is detectable for instance from a parking lot adjacent to the building Thus wireless networks require secure access to the AP and the ability to isolate the AP from the internal private network prior to user authentication into the network domain Furthermore as enterprises strive to provide better availability of mission critical wireless data they also face the challenge of maintaining that data s security and integrity While each connection with a client a supplier or a enterprise partner can improve responsiveness and efficiency it also increases the vulnerability of enterprise wireless data to attack In such an environment wireless network security is becoming more important every day Also with the growing reliance on e commerce wireless network based services and the Internet enterprises are faced with an ever increasing responsibility to protect their systems from attack Implementing and Administering Cisco Solutions 200-301 CCNA Exam Guide Glen D.
