

A man is shown from the back, wearing a white t-shirt. The t-shirt has a bold, black, sans-serif text printed on it. The text is arranged in five lines, centered on the back. The man has short, dark hair and is wearing a thin necklace. He is standing in front of a light-colored wall. To his right, there is a dark, vertical object, possibly a door or a piece of furniture. The overall lighting is soft and even.

Who Cares What I Think English Edition:

Who Cares what I Think? Marcia A. Thompson, 1994 Here sixteen American teenagers from markedly different backgrounds share their thoughts on everything from their own life experiences to the most serious problems confronting American society today such as discrimination poverty violence and the economy Meet Pharoah an inner city student from Chicago who resisted joining a gang and Damion an inner city teen from South Central Los Angeles who didn't resist Meet Anitra a teen from rural Georgia who talks about integration in her school and Cynthia a deaf student who explains how the Americans with Disabilities Act has affected her life Meet Cindy a teen from a small town in Maryland who talks about coping with AIDS and Dominique an Olympic gymnast who describes the rigors of training to be a world class athlete Meet a new American a prep school student a Native American a migrant worker and many more While they disagree on which candidate they would have voted for in the last presidential election they all tend to be skeptical of political leaders While their lives greatly differ most love the United States and wouldn't live anywhere else in the world

Care of the World Elena Pulcini, 2012-08-20 This book proposes a philosophy of care in a global age It discusses the distinguishing and opposing pathologies produced by globalization unlimited individualism or self obsession manifested as Promethean omnipotence and narcissistic indifference and endogamous communitarianism or an us obsession that results in conflict and violence The polarization between a lack and an excess of pathos is reflected in the distorted forms taken on by fear The book advocates a metamorphosis of fear which may restore in the subject an awareness of vulnerability and become the precondition for moral action Such awareness and the recognition of the condition of contamination caused by the other's unavoidable presence teach us to fear for rather than be afraid of Fear for the world means care of the world and care understood as concern and solicitude is a new notion of responsibility in which the stress is shifted to a relational subject capable of responding to and taking care of the other From a global perspective the proposed vision of care also compels us to explore a new paradigm of justice

Kinaesthetic Empathy, Ethics and Care Christine Leroy, 2025-06-25 Kinaesthetic Empathy Ethics and Care develops a philosophy of dance that highlights the psychological aesthetic and ethical significance of dancer viewer interaction in the moment of performance Leroy draws on phenomenology psychoanalysis dance studies and care ethics to analyse kinaesthetic empathy as a form of intersubjective performance She shows how in the contagion or interweaving between corporealities of dancer and viewer each party supports or upholds the other in a process of mutual care Dance movement involves a play with gravity which alleviates the weight of repressed desire and redefines the contours of the body image facilitating psychological self repair Through projection into the body of another we can develop our independence and autonomy as subjects even in the midst of relational being Richly illustrated with theatre dance examples Leroy s argument develops a corporeal basis for ethics and reveals how a return to the moving body through dance helps lay the foundations for a more humane society This book will interest philosophers dance researchers care ethicists and care practitioners as well as advanced students in these fields and general readers curious about the aesthetic and ethical potency of theatre dance
