

Animal Tracks

Many woodland animals will be warned of your approach by their keen hearing and acute sense of smell and will run off or hide themselves before you see them.

Others, like the badger, only come out at night.

Look for these tracks on the floor of the wood and for pathways of flattened vegetation.

Analysis of Eswatini's Wildlife Policies and Laws Didi Wamukoya,Manene Thwala,2017-10-18 Swaziland has a long history of conservation dating back to pre colonial and colonial times The government remains committed to wildlife conservation having enacted laws that protect wildlife and their habitat and created institutions to enforce those laws This commitment extends to the regional and international sphere where Swaziland is a party to various regional international instruments that ensure conservation of wildlife as well as facilitating wildlife law enforcement Despite all the government s efforts there are still gaps in the various laws that need to be addressed in order to ensure proper protection of wildlife in the country This analysis found that the wildlife laws are very fragmented leading to a fragmentation in the institutional framework Fragmented laws lead to overlapping legal provisions and lack of coordination and confusion in enforcement of those laws The laws are also very dated and do not address the current challenges facing wildlife The penalties for wildlife offences are quite low and this could be attributed to the fact that the laws were enacted when wildlife crimes had not yet escalated to the levels that we are witnessing today The laws also do not fully implement the international requirements of the instruments to which Swaziland is a party They do not for instance address organised crime and civil forfeiture of proceeds of crime Some or all of these challenges have led to wildlife crimes having a low profile in Swaziland and most often being treated as misdemeanours by the courts This review recommends that to address the challenges and strengthen wildlife legislation in Swaziland the profile of wildlife crimes in the country be raised so that they hold the same weight as other serious crimes the wildlife legislation be updated consolidated and harmonised the institutional framework be harmonised with clear coordination mechanisms the penalties for wildlife offences be enhanced a specific law criminalising organised crime be enacted and anti money laundering laws be updated to address civil forfeiture of illegal assets and proceeds of crime It is also recommended that local communities living next to protected areas be engaged and sensitised on the benefits of conservation and the repercussions of wildlife crimes

Komé - Kribi Philippe Lavachery,Scott MacEachern,Christophe Mbida Mindzie,Tchago Bouimon,2012 This book presents the first preview of discoveries made in the longest archaeological trench ever dug in Africa From the forests of coastal south Cameroon towards the dry savannas in southern Chad the construction of the underground pipeline of the Chad Export Project enabled an international research team to investigate a transect of 1070 kilometers length The Kome Kribi project demonstrates the exemplary application of rescue or preventive archaeology and of cultural heritage management with regard to a variety of involved political and commercial institutions In areas previously almost unknown archaeologically an impressive number of 472 new sites from the Middle Stone Age to the Iron Age many considered to be important were located Their description including quantities of cultural materials a chronological outline based on about sixty radiocarbon dates and the integration of the new and known evidence in a synoptic consideration of the cultural development of Central Africa provides a substantial base for further studies and for those archaeologists less familiar with the region also offers an introduction into the local prehistory Finally the authors have given us a vision on the abundance of information about Africa s past that is still preserved in the ground and scarcely touched so far
