Off Track C.L.Hadyn,2017-05-12 You would think a Native American who could track a piss ant through a meadow covered in heavy grass wouldn't get lost But he was lost Orion Brown son of a full blood Lakota Sioux was lost but not in any geographical location Orion was lost within himself The deaths of five of Gunnery Sergeant Orion Brown's men in combat in Afghanistan and their battle buddies crying on his shoulder had put him into unknown territory Oh he'd remained strong for the Marines who survived He bucked them up to resume combat without their battle buddies guarding their sixes but it had cost him His stronger than strong routine had earned him an honorable discharge from the Marine Corps panic attacks and the inability to touch or be touched by other human beings without having a nuclear nervous meltdown His assigned VA shrink was a joke Well the man himself wasn't a joke He was sincere he gave the impression he cared and he listened when he grudgingly shared some of his feelings but if he mentioned survivor's guilt just one more time Orion would show him just how much damage a Marine could do to office furniture The doc just didn't get it He was damned if he tried to open up and interact with the people around him and he was equally screwed if he let anyone throw an arm over his shoulder or kiss his cheek or slap him on the back The first induced no feeling at all as in semi frozen stiff on a morgue slab and the second induced panic attacks of epic proportions He was rapidly being torn apart by the dichotomy of reactions A slip of a finger on his PC keyboard offered salvation The BDSM site wanted to know if he was a Dominant or a submissive He almost didn't fill out the personal questionnaire but overhearing the prevailing opinion of him from two of his students in the Marine Special Operations Tracking Counter tracking Course he taught convinced him he needed to go beyond conventional medical practice Maybe it wouldn't be so bad to have an extremely sexy Mistress paddling his backside if he was brought back to the land of the normal But the Great Spirit was not inclined to grant him normal Irony of ironies there was no female Dominant at the local dungeon strong enough to keep him from topping her Instead he was assigned to Dai Waleska A six foot two inch Japanese American Kung Fu Master Now the overriding question was was it worth submitting to another man's physical and possibly sexual domination for a chance at getting back on a normal track Which was more important Dominance and submission to conquer his frozen core and panic attacks or maintaining a macho Marine image that would more than likely end with him gargling with a Glock somewhere down a very short road The Cold War Defense of the United States John E Bronson,2019-04-26 During the Cold War as part of its defense strategy against the Soviet Union the U S was forced to establish means of massive long range attack in response to Soviet advancements in weaponry These defenses detected and tracked manned bomber aircraft hostile submarines and missiles launched from the other side of the world This book shows how these defenses evolved from fledgling stop gap measures into a complex fabric of interconnected combinations of high tech equipment over 40 years Maps illustrate the extent of the geographic coverage required for these warning and response systems and charts display the time frames and vast numbers of both people and equipment that made up these forces

Pleasants,2018-10-03 At the outset of World War II North Carolina was one of the poorest states in the Union More than half of the land was rural Over one third of the farms had no electricity only one in eight had a telephone Illiteracy and a lack of education resulted in the highest rate of draft rejections of any state The citizens desperately wanted higher living standards and the war would soon awaken the Rip Van Winkle state to its fullest potential Home Front traces the evolution of the people customs traditions and attitudes arguing that World War II was the most significant event in the history of modern North Carolina. Using oral history interviews, newspaper accounts, and other primary sources, historian Julian Pleasants explores the triumphs, hardships, and emotions of North Carolinians during this critical period. The Training and Selective Service Act of 1940 created over fifty new military bases in the state to train two million troops. Citizens witnessed German submarines sinking merchant vessels off the coast, struggled to understand and cope with rationing regulations, and used 10,000 German POWs as farm and factory laborers. The massive influx of newcomers reinvigorated markets; the timber, mineral, textile, tobacco, and shipbuilding industries boomed, and farmers and other manufacturing firms achieved economic success. Although racial and gender discrimination remained, World War II provided social and economic opportunities for black North Carolinians and for women to fill jobs once limited to men, helping to pave the way for the civil and women's rights movements that followed. The conclusion of World War II found North Carolina drastically different. Families had lost sons and daughters, fathers and mothers, and brothers and sisters. Despite all the sacrifices and dislocations, the once provincial state looked forward to a modern, diversified, and highly industrialized future.
