User's Guide for Inslope3 James P. May, 1991 Mobile Participation Christelle Scharff, Caroline Wamala-Larsson, 2015-10-28 This volume brings together papers from academics and practitioners on specific issues related to mobile participation in the context of development originally presented at the fourth conference on Mobile Communications for Development M4D 2014 M4D research focuses on understanding the use of mobile technologies and services and how they directly or indirectly address socio economic challenges In development participation suggests that stakeholders can partake in the processes that will benefit them and this concept has been much studied by scholars who sought to understand its meaning and contribution to development Mobile participation on the other hand has not received as much scholarly attention The core question the book addresses is In what ways do mobile technologies enable enhance and perhaps even effect civic participation in everyday life The contributions to this collection provide empirical evidence and further analyses of the opportunities and limitations of what this book refers to as mobile participation in development in areas ranging from literacy health media production and digital inclusion to governance water management as well as privacy They show that simpler devices such as basic phones offer higher degrees of participation depending on the existing infrastructure and the social frameworks within which the technologies are employed Principles of Mobile

Embedded Systems Handbook Richard Zurawski, 2018-09-03 Considered a standard industry resource the Embedded Systems Handbook provided researchers and technicians with the authoritative information needed to launch a wealth of diverse applications including those in automotive electronics industrial automated systems and building automation and control Now a new resource is required to report on current developments and provide a technical reference for those looking to move the field forward yet again Divided into two volumes to accommodate this growth the Embedded Systems Handbook Second Edition presents a comprehensive view on this area of computer engineering with a currently appropriate emphasis on developments in networking and applications Those experts directly involved in the creation and evolution of the ideas and technologies presented offer tutorials research surveys and technology overviews that explore cutting edge developments and deployments and identify potential trends This first self contained volume of the handbook Embedded Systems Design and Verification is divided into three sections It begins with a brief introduction to embedded systems design and verification It then provides a comprehensive overview of embedded processors and various aspects of system on chip and FPGA as well as solutions to design challenges The final section explores power aware embedded computing design issues specific to secure embedded systems and web services for embedded devices Those interested in taking their work with embedded systems to the network level should complete their study with the second volume Network Embedded Systems

Embedded Systems Handbook 2-Volume Set Richard Zurawski, 2018-10-08 During the past few years there has been an dramatic upsurge in research and development implementations of new technologies and deployments of actual solutions and technologies in the diverse application areas of embedded systems These areas include automotive electronics industrial automated systems and building automation and control Comprising 48 chapters and the contributions of 74 leading experts from industry and academia the Embedded Systems Handbook Second Edition presents a comprehensive view of embedded systems their design verification networking and applications The contributors directly involved in the creation and evolution of the ideas and technologies presented offer tutorials research surveys and technology overviews exploring new developments deployments and trends To accommodate the tremendous growth in the field the handbook is now divided into two volumes New in This Edition Processors for embedded systems Processor centric architecture description languages Networked embedded systems in the automotive and industrial automation fields Wireless embedded systems Embedded Systems Design and Verification Volume I of the handbook is divided into three sections It begins with a brief introduction to embedded systems design and verification The book then provides a comprehensive overview of embedded processors and various aspects of system on chip and FPGA as well as solutions to design challenges The final section explores power aware embedded computing design issues specific to secure embedded systems and web services for embedded devices Networked

Embedded Systems Volume II focuses on selected application areas of networked embedded systems It covers automotive field industrial automation building automation and wireless sensor networks This volume highlights implementations in fast evolving areas which have not received proper coverage in other publications Reflecting the unique functional requirements of different application areas the contributors discuss inter node communication aspects in the context of specific applications of networked embedded systems Advances in Human Aspects of Transportation: Part II Neville Stanton, Steven Landry, Giuseppe Di Bucchianico, Andrea Vallicelli, 2021-07-19 Human Factors and Ergonomics have made a considerable contribution to the research design development operation and analysis of transportation systems which includes road and rail vehicles and their complementary infrastructure aviation and maritime transportation This book presents recent advances in the Human Factors aspects of Transportation These advances include accident analysis automation of vehicles comfort distraction of drivers understanding of distraction and how to avoid it environmental concerns in vehicle systems design intelligent transport systems methodological developments new systems and technology observational and case studies safety situation awareness skill development and training warnings and workload This book brings together the most recent human factors work in the transportation domain including empirical research human performance and other types of modeling analysis and development The issues facing engineers scientists and other practitioners of human factors in transportation research are becoming more challenging and more critical The common theme across these sections is that they deal with the intersection of the human and the system Moreover many of the chapter topics cross section boundaries for instance by focusing on function allocation in NextGen or on the safety benefits of a tower controller tool This is in keeping with the systemic nature of the problems facing human factors experts in rail and road aviation and maritime research it is becoming increasingly important to view problems not as isolated issues that can be extracted from the system environment but as embedded issues that can only be understood as a part of an overall system

Hendershot, Marjorie C. Horn, William D. Mosher, 1988 The 1982 statistics on the use of family planning and infertility services presented in this report are preliminary results from Cycle III of the National Survey of Family Growth NSFG conducted by the National Center for Health Statistics Data were collected through personal interviews with a multistage area probability sample of 7969 women aged 15-44. A detailed series of questions was asked to obtain relatively complete estimates of the extent and type of family planning services received. Statistics on family planning services are limited to women who were able to conceive 3 years before the interview date. Overall, 79% of currently married nonsterile women reported using some type of family planning service during the previous 3 years. There were no statistically significant differences between white (79%), black (75%), or Hispanic (77%) wives or between the 2 income groups. The 1982 survey questions were more comprehensive than those of earlier cycles of the survey. The annual rate of visits for family planning services in 1982 was 10.77 visits/1000 women. Teenagers had the highest annual visit rate (15.81/1000) of any age group for all sources of family planning services combined. Visit rates declined sharply with age from 14.47 at ages 15-24 to 4.79 at ages 35-44. Similar declines with age also were found in the visit rates for white and black women separately. Nevertheless, the annual visit rate for black women (13.34/1000) was significantly higher than that for white women (10.33). The highest overall visit rate was for black women 15-19 years of age (18.67/1000). Nearly 2/3 of all family planning visits were to private medical sources. Teenagers of all races had higher family planning service visit rates to clinics than to private medical sources, as did black women age 15-24. White women age 20 and older had higher visit rates to private medical services than to clinics. Never married women had higher visit rates to clinics than currently or formerly married women. Data were also collected in 1982 on use of medical services for infertility by women who had difficulty in conceiving or carrying a pregnancy to term. About 1 million ever married women had 1 or more infertility visits in the 12 months before the interview. During the 3 years before interview, about 1.9 million women had infertility visits. For all ever married women as well as for white and black women separately, infertility services were more likely to be secured from private medical sources than from clinics. The survey design, reliability of the estimates, and the terms used are explained in the technical notes.

Advances in Understanding Engineered Clay Barriers Eduardo E. Alonso, Alberto Ledesma, 2005-06-23

The use of clay barriers for waste isolating purposes has gained increasing attention in the geotechnical engineering community. Practical interest is linked to fundamental research which includes examination of the behaviour of compacted materials and expansive clays. The interaction between the barrier waste and the surrounding ground may involve several thermo-hydro-mechanical and chemical coupled processes that have been analyzed by means of in situ tests, laboratory experiments, and numerical modelling. Large scale field tests have been developed in recent years by European Agencies dealing with the management of radioactive waste. These experiments have provided an opportunity to calibrate and to validate research models and offer benefits in terms of experience of instrumentation and installation techniques. The book includes about sixty papers presented in a symposium held in Spain in 2003. The four main topics of the book are field emplacement and instrumentation techniques, fundamental research, material behaviour, i.e. bentonite, and laboratory testing.
