Enhancing Food Safety National Research Council, Institute of Medicine, Board on Agriculture and Natural Resources, Food and Nutrition Board, Committee on the Review of the Food and Drug Administration's Role in Ensuring Safe Food, 2010-11-04 Recent outbreaks of illnesses traced to contaminated sprouts and lettuce illustrate the holes that exist in the system for monitoring problems and preventing foodborne diseases Although it is not solely responsible for ensuring the safety of the nation's food supply the U S Food and Drug Administration FDA oversees monitoring and intervention for 80 percent of the food supply The U S Food and Drug Administration's abilities to discover potential threats to food safety and prevent outbreaks of foodborne illness are hampered by impediments to efficient use of its limited resources and a piecemeal approach to gathering and using information on risks Enhancing Food Safety The Role of the Food and Drug Administration a new book from the Institute of Medicine and the National Research Council responds to a congressional request for recommendations on how to close gaps in FDA's food safety systems Enhancing Food Safety begins with a brief review of the Food Protection Plan FPP FDA's food safety philosophy developed in 2007 The lack of sufficient detail and specific strategies in the FPP renders it ineffectual The book stresses the need for FPP to evolve and be supported by the type of strategic planning described in these pages It also explores the development and implementation of a stronger more effective food safety system built on a risk based approach to food safety management Conclusions and recommendations include adopting a risk based decision making approach to food safety creating a data surveillance and research infrastructure integrating federal state and local government food safety programs enhancing efficiency of inspections and more Although food safety is the responsibility of everyone from producers to consumers the FDA and other regulatory agencies have an essential role In many instances the FDA must carry out this responsibility against a backdrop of multiple stakeholder interests inadequate resources and competing priorities Of interest to the food production industry consumer advocacy groups health care professionals and others Enhancing Food Safety provides the FDA and Congress with a course of action that will enable the agency to become more efficient and effective in carrying out its food safety mission in a rapidly changing world Food & Service News ,2003 *ServSafe? Nutrition and Healthy Aging in the Community Institute of Medicine,Food and Nutrition Board,2012-06-15 The U S population of older adults is predicted to grow rapidly as baby boomers those born between 1946 and 1964 begin to reach 65 years of age Simultaneously advancements in medical care and improved awareness of healthy lifestyles have led to longer life expectancies The Census Bureau projects that the population of Americans 65 years of age and older will rise from approximately 40 million in 2010 to 55 million in 2020 a 36 percent increase Furthermore older adults are choosing to live independently in the community setting rather than residing in an institutional environment

Furthermore the types of services needed by this population are shifting due to changes in their health issues Older adults have historically been viewed as underweight and frail however over the past decade there has been an increase in the number of obese older persons Obesity in older adults is not only associated with medical comorbidities such as diabetes it is also a major risk factor for functional decline and homebound status The baby boomers have a greater prevalence of obesity than any of their historic counterparts and projections forecast an aging population with even greater chronic disease burden and disability In light of the increasing numbers of older adults choosing to live independently rather than in nursing homes and the important role nutrition can play in healthy aging the Institute of Medicine IOM convened a public workshop to illuminate issues related to community based delivery of nutrition services for older adults and to identify nutrition interventions and model programs Nutrition and Healthy Aging in the Community summarizes the presentations and discussions prepared from the workshop transcript and slides This report examines nutrition related issues of concern experienced by older adults in the community including nutrition screening food insecurity sarcopenic obesity dietary patterns for older adults and economic issues This report explores transitional care as individuals move from acute subacute or chronic care settings to the community and provides models of transitional care in the community This report also provides examples of successful intervention models in the community setting and covers the discussion of research gaps in knowledge about nutrition interventions and services for older adults in the community Chef ,2009 Journal of the Association of Food and Drug Officials ,2001 Beef Today ,1998 Funworld ,2010-07 The Consultant ,2003
