Community Policing in Action Peter Stevens, Dianna M. Yach, 1995 Provides practical guidance on the possibilities and barriers to effective implementation of community policing An essential ingredient for success is through consultation in which police are one of the key elements in ensuring community safety in a democratic society

Plural Policing Trevor Jones, Tim Newburn, 2006-04-18 Policing is changing rapidly and radically An increasingly complex array of public private and municipal bodies as well as public police forces are engaged in the provision of regulation and security Consequently it is difficult to think of security provision primarily in terms of what the public police do and so the terminology of fragmented or plural policing systems has become well established within criminology and police science Plural policing is now a central issue within criminology and police studies throughout the world and there is now a large and growing body of research and theory concerned with its extent nature and governance To date however this work has been dominated by Anglo American perspectives This volume takes a detailed comparative look at the development of plural policing and provides the most up to date work of reference for scholars in this field Edited by two of the world's leading authorities on policing and including individual contributions from internationally recognised experts in criminology and police studies this is the first ever volume to focus on plural policing internationally and to draw together empirical evidence on its developments in a formal comparative framework

Newman,Ariane De Lannoy,2015-03-24 Twenty years after the end of apartheid a new generation is building a multiracial democracy in South Africa but remains mired in economic inequality and political conflict The death of Nelson Mandela in 2013 arrived just short of the twentieth anniversary of South Africa s first free election reminding the world of the promise he represented as the nation s first Black president Despite significant progress since the early days of this new democracy frustration is growing as inequalities that once divided the races now grow within them as well In After Freedom award winning sociologist Katherine S Newman and South African expert Ariane De Lannoy bring alive the voices of the freedom generation who came of age after the end of apartheid Through the stories of seven ordinary individuals who will inherit the richest and yet most unequal country in Africa Newman and De Lannoy explore how young South Africans whether Black White mixed race or immigrant confront the lingering consequences of racial oppression These intimate portraits illuminate the erosion of old loyalties the eruption of class divides and the heated debate over policies designed to redress the evils of apartheid Even so the freedom generation remains committed to a united South Africa and is struggling to find its way toward that vision Violence, Inequality and Transformation: Apartheid Survivors on South Africa's Ongoing Transition Jasmina Brankovic, Brian Mphahlele, Sindiswa Nunu, Agnes Ngxukuma, Nompumelelo Njana, Yanelisa Sishuba, 2020-01-29 Despite its lauded political transition in 1994 South Africa continues to have among the highest levels of violence and inequality in the world Organised survivors of apartheid violations have long maintained that we cannot adequately address violence in the country let alone achieve full democracy without addressing inequality This book is built around extensive quotes from members of Khulumani Support Group the apartheid survivors social movement and young people growing up in Khulumani families It shows how these survivors who bridge the past and the present through their activism understand and respond to socioeconomic drivers of violence Pointing to the continuities between apartheid oppression and post apartheid marginalisation in everyday life the narratives detail ways in which the democratic dispensation has strengthened barriers to social transformation and helped enable violence They also present strategies for effecting change through collaboration dialogue and mutual training and through partnerships with diverse stakeholders that build on local level knowledge and community based initiatives The lens of violence offers new and manageable ways to think about reducing inequality while the lens of inequality shows that violence is a complex web of causes pathways and effects that requires a big picture approach to unravel The survivors narratives suggest innovative strategies for promoting a just transition through people driven transformation that go well beyond the constraints of South Africa s transitional justice practice to date A result of participatory research conducted in collaboration with and by Khulumani members this book will be of interest to activists students researchers and policy makers working on issues of transitional justice inequality and violence SA Crime Quarterly ,2005 South Africa News Update ,1992 Consists of reproductions of articles from South African newspapers The Boy's Own Annual ,1898 The World Factbook United States.
